Prepare To Cite Lewis For Contempt; Miners Idle

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—The government moved quickly to cite John L. Lewis for contempt of court today as a general walkout of UMW miners throttled the soft coal production.

Reports from the field indicated some anthracite miners were joining the 400,000 bituminous diggers in a stoppage that could eventually touch all industry. Work suspension came in the face of government pleas to keep the mines going.

Lewis, who disregarded a court order to restore the effectiveness of the Miners' contract with the government, continued silent.

Lewis At Home

The United Mine Worker boss was at his home in suburban Alexandria, Va., and as the morning passed there was no indication that he planned to come into his Washington Union headquarters. There were indications there that Lewis may have made arrangements for an extended absence from his office. It was known that he spent much of yesterday answering mail and otherwise clearing his desk of pending business.

By noon today, government attorneys were expected to go before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and petition for a contempt citation that might subject him to fine or imprisonment.

However, midday came and went with the government attorneys still in consultation and indications that there would be some delay in their appearance in court.

Take Emergency Steps

Judge Goldsborough disposed of routine matters before him during the morning and adjourned his court for the day shortly before 12 o'clock. He left the court building for lunch but aides said he would be in his chambers later in the afternoon.

Orders went out to cushion the impact of a prospective coal famine.

Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming ordered a return to wartime heating and lighting restrictions in all federal buildings throughout the country which depend on coal.

Fleming said he will seek to reduce temperatures to the wartime level of 68 degrees. The order affects approximately 300 buildings in the capital alone.

Await Word from Clark

The Civilian Production administration prepared a directive designed to help ration artificial gas, produced from coal. The same agency pondered an electricity conservation order.

Assistant Attorney General John Sonnett awaited only the word from Attorney General Tom Clark before presenting the contempt citation before Judge Goldsborough.

The petition, it was learned, was drawn up by Clark, Sonnett, and other government lawyers. The finishing touches were applied at a staff conference this morning.

Administration Plans

In all-out action, the administration was reported also preparing to seek punishment for any local union leaders or others who are found to be encouraging a strike.

A high authority said this is the government's operating plan under President Truman's instructions to "fight this one out to the finish":

1. Before the day's end, Justice Department officials will go before U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and ask for a contempt citation against Lewis. If Lewis should be found in contempt for non-compliance with a court order, he could be fined or sent to jail—to stay until he purged himself of contempt, if the judge so ordered.

It was Goldsborough who on Monday issued an order directing Lewis to recall his "termination" of the United Mine Workers (AFL) contract, effective last midnight. Lewis did not recall it.

Army Alerted

2. Evidence is being collected with a view to prosecuting under the Smith-Connally act anyone, from Lewis on down, whom the government may contend is encouraging a strike. The Smith-Connally law forbids encouraging or inciting a strike in a government-operated mine or plant. Conviction carries a penalty of $5,000 fine or a year in jail.

3. Study is being given to the possibility of "freezing" the United Mine Workers' $13,500,000 union fund, and this will be done if a way can be found around "legal technicalities."

In the mounting crisis, U. S. troops stood ready to move into the coal fields to prevent violence—but not to mine coal. Unit commanders were alerted.

Government officials also kept an anxious ear to the ground for any manifestations of a general upheaval by labor. The AFL with its 7,150,000 unions members and the CIO with its 6,000,000 had already thrown their moral support behind the UMW chief.

ADAMS BANKERS ELECT A. E. ORNER NEW PRESIDENT

Arnold E. Orner, cashier of the Arendtsville National bank for the past four years and vice president of the Adams County Bankers association for the last year, was named president of the county bankers' group Wednesday evening at the annual election meeting of the bankers in the Hotel Gettysburg.

Other officers elected at the same time were: Vice president, C. D. Krout, cashier of the East Berlin National bank; secretary, David Houck, Arendtsville; treasurer, J. Bruce Maclay, cashier of the Fairfield National bank. Named to the council of administration were Elmer W. Warren, trust officer of the First National bank of Gettysburg; J. D. Miller, cashier of the Biglerville National bank; Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg; H. B. Flaherty, cashier of the New Oxford Farmers and Merchants bank, and Dr. H. A. Stonesifer, of the Littlestown National bank.

Rev. Berkheimer Speaks

The names of the candidates for the offices were presented at the meeting by a nominating committee comprising Arthur E. Bair of the Littlestown National bank, Bruce Taylor of the Biglerville bank, and Mr. Flaherty.

"The magnificent structure of the American banking system, built on the faith and trust of the people of the nation over a period of years, is a testimony to the integrity of bankers and a challenge to them to continue to remain faithful to that trust," the Rev. George H. Berkheimer, World War II army chaplain and pastor of the Arendtsville Lutheran church, told the bankers.

"Just as patience and faith built up America's credit system over the period of years, so could world peace be built," the Rev. Mr. Berkheimer continued, "I am convinced that another war is not necessary.

Need For Faith

"I am convinced mankind can build up a faith in one another which will not only make another war unnecessary, but also impossible.

"Faith is innate in human nature and needs only to express itself, which is as true of national and international problems as of anything else. If such a faith comes it will come quietly and simply. As the Alpine bastions were formed by the quiet accumulation of small flakes of mica over the years, as banking

TWO INJURED IN HEADON CRASH

Miss Bess Cox, Carlisle street, and Mrs. Irene Fortney, also of Carlisle street, were injured at 7:30 o'clock this morning when the car in which they were riding toward Harrisburg and another vehicle collided one mile south of Camp Hill, near Eichelberger's curve.

Miss Cox, who was treated at the Warner hospital for contusions of the left arm and chest, and Mrs. Fortney, who was treated at Harrisburg for a bruised knee, were occupants of a car driven by Guyon E. Buehler, Eberhart apartments.

According to state police at the Harrisburg sub-station who investigated the crash, the left front fenders and fronts of the cars driven by Buehler and Henry M. Hogue, York Springs, collided in the dense fog that covered the Harrisburg road near Harrisburg this morning. Both cars were going about 20 miles an hour.

No charges were made by the investigating officer who estimated total damage at about $400. Both cars had to be towed away, with Buehler's car brought to the H. and H. Machine shop here and Hogue's vehicle towed to the Wolf garage at York Springs.

Mrs. Fortney was to be taken to the Warner hospital this afternoon for X-rays to determine the extent of the knee injury.

'UGLY' DIVORCE PROBLEM TOPIC AT CONFERENCE

"Divorce is the ugliest, nastiest problem facing the United States at S. Rudisill, field secretary for the Church and School board of the the present time," the Rev. Dr. Earl United Lutheran Church in America, this morning told the Rural Life conference being held at the Lutheran Theological seminary here.

About 50 pastors of churches of this area and laymen are attending the conference being held under the auspices of the Town and Country Church department of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

"While authorities differ as to the exact number of marriages broken up in divorce the estimate of one out of every three marriages being headed for the divorce court seems conservative," he told the group.

Need "Intelligent" Courtship

"Most of these people, the ones whose marriages are breaking up are not church people and it is difficult to reach them to aid them," he added. "But we can reach the children and if we can obtain a new attitude toward marriage, a more intelligent understanding in the next ten years, we can reserve the trend."

He urged clinics and conferences for young people about to marry to "explain that there are many problems that must be resolved before a man and woman marry. There must be adjustments in outlook, in temperament, and in general outlook on life. Each has come from a separate family with its own customs and habits. Those too must be adjusted in marriage. Most of these problems can and should be talked out in the courtship stage. We must urge a more intelligent courtship period."

Parents too have a duty, "a duty of growing constantly so that they can aid their children as the children grow," he added.

Afternoon Talks

Dr. R. D. Heim demonstrated the value of visual education in an illustrated lecture this morning. The Rev. George H. Berkheimer, Arendtsville, presided at the conference.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Nevin Frantz, Arendtsville.

This afternoon with the Rev. G. W. Harrison presiding, Prof. W. R. Gordon, State College, will speak on "It's Time to Discuss Change." Doctor Heim will continue with his visual education program and the Rev. LeRoy Howes will summarize the conference.

'PHANTOM' AGAIN ELUDES ARREST

The "phantom" of Steinwehr avenue still haunts the south part of the borough and Wednesday night again proved his elusiveness to capture.

Several times in recent weeks reports have been received by borough police that women have been stopped or been spied on or chased in this section of town. One arrest was made but this did not end the menace.

In spite of the vigilance of the police and their thorough searching of that section of town, the "phantom" has thus far eluded apprehension.

Two possible suspects were questioned Wednesday night by police after receipt of the latest complaint, a report that a man had chased a woman across and down Steinwehr avenue, but the men were released. Both had seemingly good alibis, police said.

The "phantom" is still at large.

Gettysburg's observance of the 83rd anniversary of Lincoln's visit to this historic community to dedicate the National Cemetery has attracted wide attention in the press of the nation. All the large wire services carried accounts of the program here and many commented editorially.

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin's lead editorial on Wednesday was a reprint of the story it published 83 years ago. It follows:

"The proceedings at Gettysburg yesterday seem to have been in every respect, appropriate. The presence of the President and many other distinguished men, together with a vast multitude of people from all parts of the country, shows how high is the popular estimate of the victory that was won by General Meade in July. It shows, too, how dearly the nation treasures the memories of the brave men who laid down their lives on those memorable days. Mr. Everett's oration is a fine, scholarly production. It is somewhat deficient in warmth, as is all that he writes, but it will serve as an enduring record, not merely of the dedication of the National Cemetery, but of the whole campaign which was crowned with victory at Gettysburg. The President's brief speech of dedication is most happily expressed. It is warm, earnest, unaffected and touching. Thousands who would not read the long, elaborate oration of Mr. Everett will read the President's words, and not many of them will do it without a moistening of the eyes and a swelling of the heart. The really sacred soil of the Battlefield of Gettysburg has now been solemnly set apart as the resting place of its heroes, and it will attract pilgrims from all parts of the land as long as we are a nation."

STUDY HIGHWAY SAFETY PLANS AT SCHOOL MEET

A program of highway safety that may eventually lead to teaching high school students how to drive was outlined Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Schoolmen's Association and the county's school bus drivers at the SCA building on the college campus.

Ivan Stehman, director of highway safety education of the state Department of Public Instruction, and Cpl. Lodwick Jenkins and Officer George Ackerson of the local sub-station of the state police took part in the general discussion of highway safety and what the schools can do to promote it.

Stehman told the schoolmen and bus drivers of the proposed plan of the state department to institute a safety program starting with the first grade and scheduled to carry through college, while the state policemen outlined laws and regulations now pertaining to highway safety.

Cite Need for Better Planning

Stehman added that secondary school education on safety is being pushed the hardest at the present with the state department asking every high school to start programs on highway safety which might lead to students being taught to drive.

Following the talks a lengthy discussion was held with schoolmen and bus drivers taking part in which the bus drivers brought out the need for more careful planning of bus routes by school directors.

The buses for the most part now operate on a house to house schedule, the bus drivers told the educators, and as a result of stopping at every house along their route where children are to be picked up, the bus frequently must stop in a hazardous position while the children are embarking and disembarking.

They urged the holding of bus driver-parent-teacher association meetings throughout the county in order to show to parents the dangers that are involved many times in stopping wherever a home might be, rather than at a safer place. At some points where they must stop the lives of every student in the bus are endangered, while if the bus could stop 50 or 100 yards further along the road, the danger would be lessened, bus drivers said.

Name Committee

The trend toward re-examination of all automobile drivers was discussed with many favoring the idea. The possibility of legislation making uniform all over the country the regulations in regard to other vehicles passing halted school buses was also discussed, although no definite course of action was recommended.

Leslie V. Stock, Biglerville school head and president of the schoolmen's group, appointed a nominating committee comprising Charles R. Wolfe, registrar at Gettysburg college; Guile W. Lefever, principal at Gettysburg high school, and Donald Ernst, Arendtsville principal. The group will name officers for the coming year.

The next meeting of the group will probably be held on the third Wednesday of January, it was announced today.

Nearly $300,000 To Be Distributed Soon To 5,000 County Xmas Club Members

During the first week of December there will go into the mails checks totaling almost $300,000 to nearly 5,000 Christmas club members from 11 Adams county banking institutions as the banks pay off the largest Christmas club accounts they ever handled.

The 1946 distribution of $297,632.80 tops the previous record of $258,950 set last year. Approximately 900 more Adams countains used the Christmas clubs this year than ever before, a county-wide survey conducted by The Gettysburg Times showed today.

The total for distribution is 15 per cent above last year.

Most of the banks will mail their checks December 2 and all will have their checks in the mail that week, releasing a flood of pre-holiday wealth to prospective Christmas shoppers in this area.

Average Is $59.59 Check

Nearly all of the banks reported considerable gains during this year—both in the number of club members and in the amounts saved as compared with previous years.

The average check this year is $59.59.

The largest club in the county this year was conducted by the Gettysburg National bank which will distribute $83,937.70, to its 1,423 club members. These figures represent an increase of 253 club accounts and $5,111.25 over the 1945 totals.

Others In Big Five

Second largest club was operated by the First National bank of Gettysburg which will mail $65,400 to its 1,200 club members. Last year that bank distributed $47,000 to its 725 Christmas clubbers.

The Littlestown State bank again ranks third in the county with its club of 621 members who will get checks totaling $42,077.85.

The Farmers bank of McSherrystown ranks fourth with a club of 580 members and a total of $31,286.75 for distribution.

YOUTH INJURED AS CAR UPSETS ALONG HIGHWAY

Walter D. Barnes, 18, East Berlin, suffered bruises and lacerations of the face, forehead and hands Wednesday evening at 10:45 o'clock when his car overturned one and a half miles south of New Oxford on the Hanover road.

Barnes, who was given first aid by the state policeman called to investigate the accident, told the officer he had been driving south on the road when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. Barnes said he pulled off to the berm on the right side of the road until the other car passed. When he attempted to return his vehicle to the macadam road, his tires dragged on the side of the macadam which police say is about four inches above the berm at the spot, and they threw his vehicle out of control. It crossed the highway and upset.

Damage totalled $200.

VET GRANTED LAST REQUEST

Detroit, Nov. 21 (AP)—From his bed in Dearborn Veterans' hospital, George Kovach, 39, expressed gratitude Wednesday that one of his last wishes is a reality.

Kovash who served at General Eisenhower's European headquarters during World War II, was granted citizenship in a bedside ceremony yesterday conducted by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard.

Veterans' organizations and VA officials had joined in an effort to win citizenship for the gravely ill ex-GI, a native of Austria, after he had made known his wishes last week. Judge Picard cut red tape to convene court at his bedside.

Kovach was brought to the United States when a baby but never applied for citizenship. It was not until the war started, he explained, that he became aware of its preciousness. He filed first papers, but the call to service came before he could follow them up.

"It's a peculiar feeling, of things being not quite as they should be, to live in this country and fight for it and yet not be a citizen," he said. "It's the only thing I've wanted all these months."

Hospital officials said Kovach was stricken with an undisclosed illness in 1943 and was given a medical discharge in December, 1944, after service in the European and African theaters. He failed to show improvement and was admitted to the Veterans hospital.

Newspaper Strike Enters Third Week

Camden, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP)—Hundreds of pickets paraded around the struck Camden Courier-Post plant today as the walkout of CIO-American Newspaper Guild employes here and at the Philadelphia Record entered its third week.

Those sentenced were charged with obstructing the sidewalks and with refusing to obey a police order not to obstruct the walks.

Guild employes of the Courier-Post and Record are striking in support of demands for higher wages. The papers are being published by executives.

Calls Alcoholism 'Curable Disease'

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Alcoholism was listed today as a disease that can be cured if the victims "understand what they have to do to bring their illness under control."

Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National committee on alcoholism told a joint conference of state health officials and Pennsylvania Federation of Women's club members yesterday that there are nearly 3,000,000 alcoholics in the United States.

"Despite this fact, in most cities there is no place to put an alcoholic except in a city jail," declared Mrs. Mann.

She declared that other diseases "look mild" compared to the suffering of those afflicted with alcoholism.

Phila. Optimistic Over UN Chances

Philadelphia, Nov. 21 (AP)—The feeling spread through Philadelphia today that the city was in line to become the peace capital of the world.

ADAMS BANKERS

developed quietly from the faith of the people in the integrity of the bankers over the period of years, so too could the faith of people in each other grow through the years so there will be no more wars."

The Rev. Mr. Berkheimer termed the Australians as unfit to be overlords in smaller territories surrounding Australia. Because of their arrogant treatment of New Guinea natives in their relationships with the natives there they are unable to get the best out of those peoples, the speaker declared.

Tells Of Australian Banking

Speaking of the life of a banker in Australia, the Rev. Mr. Berkheimer told the county bankers they would be "in a different position and have different problems down under." There the banks are owned by the government and bankers are shifted around from bank to bank at the direction of the banking bureau. "But the bank employes are content so long as they have their tea and their smoke and their Saturday off. Each man carries to work with him his tea pot and tea and when about 9:30 o'clock in the morning a bell rings, everyone gets water and makes his tea. About 10:45 in the morning the bell rings again and everyone takes a smoke. The same schedule at different hours holds true in the afternoon.

"Everything is closed in Australia on Saturdays, even the restaurants except by appointment, and everybody goes to the races to bet," the speaker related. He showed various types of money used in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines.

Urges Higher Pay

Warren Whittier, vice chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, told the bankers that "directors should now reconsider the wage scales paid in the banks, not particularly because of the increased cost of living, but principally because the banking profession in many cases does not pay a wage equal to the responsibility placed on the employe. If we wish the banking profession to develop and be among the leading professions in the community then we must increase our wage structure," Whittier declared.

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank here and president of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, brought greetings from the PBA to the county organization.

Retiring president Elmer W. Warren, of the county association presided at Wednesday's dinner meeting at which about 100 were present.

The two East Berlin banks and the Abbottstaown State bank did not operate clubs this year but officials at the Peoples State bank of East Berlin said today that it is possible that a 1947 Christmas club may be operated there.

All of the county banks that conducted Christmas clubs will also operate clubs during 1947, the banks have announced.

The distribution of the Christmas club funds in Adams county is part of a vast nationwide operation in which $635,000,000 will be distributed to about 9,360,000 Christmas Club members by 5,000 banking institutions throughout the country. Figures for the nation were announced by Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation.

Third Spent For Gifts

The total distribution is about 15.7 per cent ahead of last year and represents an all-time high for the 36 years of club operation. The naaional club officials estimaet that about a third of the Christmas club wealth will go into Christmas purchases, a third into permanent savings and the other third will be divided between insurance premiums, debt retirement, pear-end bills and taxes.

New York state leads the nation this year with about $176,000,000 for its club members. The Pennsylvania figure is about $78,000,000, second highest in the nation.

Why Bert Won First Prize

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the boom white and spotless.

"Trimmings" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive ... in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a wholehearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

PACIFIC COAST DISAPPOINTED BY BOWL RULE

By BOB MYERS

Los Angeles, Nov. 21 (AP)—Pacific Coast conference officials here today privately expressed disappointment over the Berkeley Rose Bowl decision, but the public at large was not so discreet.

Interested observers, alumni spokesmen, sports experts, and literally hundreds of fans didn't wait to be asked for an opinion on the Pacific Coast-Big Nine Bowl pact which slammed the gate on Army.

The consensus in Southern California was:

An agreement might be all right, but after all these years of official and unofficial dickering between the two, it could have been dated a year later, leaving the way open for Army to play in the Pasadena game next New Year's Day.

That One Hurt

There was a healthy minority who didn't like the agreement in any form. They opposed the closed-door policy against other teams, principally from the south and southwest which have provided the Bowl history with many a colorful chapter, win or lose.

Particularly painful was the suggestion as reported from the east that the conference was afraid to meet the great Army outfit. That one hurt, for it was UCLA and Southern California, who meet Saturday for the right to represent the far west in the Rose Bowl, which led the losing battle at Berkeley to bring the Cadets to the Bowl.

Outvoted in their own conference, two to six, with two members absent, both UCLA and Southern Cal. favored Army even before the hurry-up session was called at Berkeley.

Lightweights Ready For Title Battle

Philadelphia, Nov. 21 (AP) — Both pronounced physically fit, champion Bob Montgomery and challenger Wes Mouzon sharpened up their punches today for Tuesday's grudge battle for the lightweight championship, New York- Pennsylvania version.

The two Philadelphia negroes checked in for a physical examination at the State Athletic commission office yesterday without a smile, without a word and without a sign of recognition passing between them.

Dr. W. B. G. Terry found the two boxers in top-flight condition for their 15-round go at Convention Hall Tuesday. It will be their second meeting. Mouzon knocked out the champion in the second round of a non-title bout last August. Fell-a non-title bout last August. Feeling has run high between the two men ever since. Montgomery, a known slow starter, said he attributes his defeat to the fact that he was hustled into the ring and given no chance to warm up prior to the bell.

It appears everybody was in the air on this play as Ray Kreider, Gettysburg college back, leaps into the air to snatch a pass against Albright in the Bullets' 34-0 triumph last Saturday at Reading. Baumgaertel, 66, and Kubisen, 39, attempt to break up the pass. Howard Cauffman, 15, races to get in on the play. (Picture courtesy of the Reading Eagle.)

Albright Back About To Be Halted By Bullets

Joe Kubisen, Albright right halfback, picks up some yardage against the Gettysburg college eleven in the game won by the Bullets last Saturday at Reading 34-0. Martin Pavelic, 80, and Charley Rambo, 79, c onverge to make the tackle. Ray Kreider is seen hurdling several Lion players. Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Word from the West Coast is that the frost is on the Army team as well as the pumpkin and while assorted easterners still are annoyed about this freeze-out it seems as good a time as any to suggest that Bowl contacts be extended further. . . While the Big Nine and Pacific coast champs are meeting in the Rose Bowl, why not pair up the top teams of the Ivy League and the Southern conference in the Orange Bowl each year, and organize the eastern "independents," topped by Army and Navy, to take on the southeastern champion in the Sugar Bowl?. . . The Cotton Bowl already has its southwest conference alliance and some other group, possibly the Big Six, could provide the party of the second part.

OBJECTIONS OVERRULED

The "Ivy group" is avowedly against bowl games, but even this might be overcome. One purpose of the Big Nine-Pacific coast agreement is to limit preparations so that neither team gets an advantage and neither forgets about December classes while concentrating on New Year's Day. A similar, and perhaps tighter agreement, could give an Ivy-South tussle the status of a fair reward for a season's effort by the players . . .As for the Sugar Bowl tussle there are perhaps a dozen less-ivied eastern schools which could profit in more ways than one by forming a league. A close association with them likely would induce the southwestern conference to adopt a more orthodox attitude toward rewarding players. Their socalled commercialism helped start all this talk about who should play in the bowls.

Pa. Winter Sports Expected To Boom

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Predicting the "greatest winter sports season" in years in Pennsylvania, the state Commerce Department today announced more than a score of mountain areas will provide organized winter sports facilities this winter.

The department issued a booklet listing the winter vacation spots in the Keystone state and urged Pennsylvanians to :

"Get out into the woods in winter time and find a new and healthful recreation if you are not already one of the devotees."

The booklet disclosed that for the first time a state ski champion will be selected under the auspices of the newly organized Pennsylvania ski federation. The championships will be held at State College February 15-16 with February 22-23 as alternate dates.

In addition to the commercial resorts, the department's bureau of Vacation and Recreation reminded that there are more than 2,000,000 acres of state-owned forests "crisscrossed by thousands of miles of trails over which snowshoers and hikers may wander in wintertime."

PETCHEL PACES PENN STATE 11

State College, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Elwood Petchel, a little fellow who didn't think he was good enough to make the Penn State football team, today paces the once-beaten Nittany Lions in scoring and rates as the team's leading offensive performer.

Petchel, who doesn't top 150 pounds with a full load of equipment, played for Penn State two years ago spending most of the season as understudy to Johnny Chuchkran and then went into the navy for a one-year hitch.

This fall, after his discharge from the service, he considered transfer to another school.

"He didn't want to leave Penn State," his mother told Coach Bob Higgins, "but he was afraid the pre-war players would keep him on the bench most of the time."

Petchel has yet to start a game, but this strategy has helped rather than hurt him. Higgins has found him a good "money player," the kind who steps into a situation and makes the most of it. The Easton, Pa., scatback scored Penn State's two touchdowns last week in defeating Navy 12-7.

DOWNED PLANE FOUND IN ALPS

Paris, Nov. 21 (AP)—The wreckage of a U. S. Army C-53 transport plane which crash-landed Tuesday was located today on a glacier high in the French Alps about 45 miles west of the Italian city of Turin, Col. H. F. Miniter, European Air Transport Service commander announced.

This announcement came shortly after U. S. Army headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany, reported a radio message saying eight of the 11 persons on the C-53 were stretcher cases.

Among the passengers were Brig. Gen. Loyal M. Haynes, former deputy chief of staff, U. S. Forces in Austria; Haynes' wife, and the wives of Brig. Gens. Ralph H. Tate and Ralph Snavely. Mrs. Tate is the mother of the plane's pilot, Capt. Ralph H. Tate, Jr.

The wreckage was spotted by one of the 20 EATS search planes at 2:20 p. m. (8:20 a. m., EST), said Col. Miniter, who had directed the army's search from his office in Orly Field since the transport made a crash landing 48 hours ago.

Colonel Miniter said the plane which discovered the wreckage signaled ground rescue parties toiling up the precipitous slopes of the Alps, and circled the site to guide the rescuers.

Justice Department Gets 'Fraud' Data

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Justice Department has received for possible action evidence which a House committee said points to fraud in the Axtell-Slaughter contest in Missouri's Democratic primary.

Enox Axtell, supported by President Truman and the Pendergast political organization, defeated Rep. Roger Slaughter for the nomination to Congress from the fifth district. Axtell lost the election to Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr.

Chairman Priest (D.-Tenn.) said evidence collected by the House Campaign Investigation Committee indicated "dishonest counting of the ballots, impersonation of voters by known individuals, illegal voting and illegal influencing of voters by payment of money." He mentioned no names.

RECEIVES MEDAL

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Dr. Carlton J. H. Hayes, historian and former U. S. Ambassador to Spain, was presented last night with the 1946 Laetare medal awarded annually by Notre Dame university to the man it considers the outstanding Catholic of the year.

It is estimated by milkers that it requires 340 to 350 squirts in milking to yield a gallon of milk.

The three men present, who heard Lincoln on that memorable day in 1863, took part in the exercises. Judge M. W. Jacobs, of Harrisburg, gave Lincoln's address; J. D. Heminger, of Carlisle, gave a brief talk; Dr. P. M. Bikle pronounced the benediction.

The Rev. Luther B. Hafer presided at the exercises and the Rev. W. D. E. Scott gave the invocation. Music was furnished by the Paradise Protectorate Band, of Abbottstown.

Joseph Riggs, a veteran of the Civil War, and the son of a veteran, was given the honor of unveiling the plaque.

Today's Talk

ON HURDLING OBSTACLES

Fortunate is that one who has known hardships. Nothing serves character so well. Only the strong in mind and heart grow and spread influence. Read the story of any life that has become notable and you will learn that that one had to go through endless trials and difficulties.

The horse has to expend great extra strength to cover a hurdle. It is the same with all of us in life. We must have reserve strength to hurdle the many obstacles that face us all from time to time. We must school ourselves to face danger, trouble, and many a dire emergency. I cannot get out of my mind that sign I saw, many years ago, that a contractor had placed on a wall where his men were at work. It read, after giving his name: "Builder of Difficult Foundations." He didn't care for the easy jobs!

We are only as big as we do—but we do best when we have done much, faced much, and overcome much. Such a procedure brings about success without exception. Obstacles whet the will. When they told the late E. H. Harriman that a railroad could not be built across the Great Salt Lake, his reply was: "Go ahead and DO it!" And, regardless of the fact that he was told it could not be done—it was! I thought of that statement when I first rode over that lake—and marveled at the power of the one who could see obstacles only to push them aside.

Every school-boy knows of that famous saying of Napoleon's—"There shall be no Alps"—when Napoleon was told that his soldiers could not march over them.

There are no obstacles that do not have some successful solution. But it takes courage and will to discover that solution. The story of this Western World is the inspiration of all the Old World, for it presents an example of what a people can do when free and with an overmastering desire to grow, to expand, and to keep building, regardless of all obstacles in the way.

The obstacles to a universal and lasting peace are many, but they can be both met and solved. In unity of purpose, and with a willingness to give and take all around, peace can be made a working affair. But every nation must WANT it, without reserve!

ASSERTS STATE LACKS PUBLIC HEALTH SCHOOL

Harrisburg, Nov. 21 (AP)—Pennsylvania today is without a single medical school to provide public health training for physicians, says Dr. William Harvey Perkins, dean of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia.

"Physicians must go outside the borders of Pennsylvania to find such institutions," he said in emphasizing that "we cannot face the criticism today of having a layman doing a physician's job in public health."

Describing the Keystone state's public health as "behind the times," he told a joint conference of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs and State Health department officials:

Not A Luxury

"A public health course of study for physicians is not a luxury item. It is a strenuous procedure and medical schools of their state have fallen flat in their failure to train medical students in public health. The schools have merely scratched the surface in this important field."

The conference also heard estimates by Dr. E. E. Shifferstine, chief of the Health department's rheumatic fever division, that the number of rheumatic fever cases in Pennsylvania "runs as high at 45,000."

"We know so little about it that no one can say with certainty what number of cases are existent," he asserted.

Dr. Shifferstine also reported 666 suspected rheumatic heart disease cases have been registered at state clinics at Altoona, Erie, Williamsport, Harrisburg and Allentown.

The conference continued today with a program highlighted by talks on rural health needs, highway and safety and a proposed program for combatting chronic alcoholism.

Court Upholds Steelworkers

Philadelphia, Nov. 21 (AP)—A federal court has upheld the CIO-Steelworkers of America in pronouncing that the union cannot be forced to disclose the names of all its members.

The action came yesterday in the latest phase of a long-standing legal battle between the Steelworkers and the Weirton Steel company.

The third U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the union to produce before a special master in Pittsburgh its financial records showing amounts paid to 36 specific Weirton employes from 1943 through 1945.

But the order stipulated the master must inspect them before deciding whether they are evidence to become public property.

VA SUSPENDS SUBSISTANCE TO 150,000 VETS

By VERN HAUGLAND

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Veterans' Administration reported Wednesday it has suspended subsistence payments to approximately 150,000 ex-GI's for failure to report earnings in school or job training.

The payments, made under the GI Bill of Rights, amount to $65 monthly for unmarried veterans in school or on job training and to $90 monthly for married men. More than 1,200,000 veterans draw the allotments.

Tuition payments, made directly to schools, are not affected.

Under legislation passed last summer, veterans' payments and earnings are limited to a total of $175 monthly for those without dependents and to $200 monthly for those with dependents. In the event those figures are exceeded, the subsistence allowances must be reduced accordingly.

The Veterans Administration warned on November 1 that the subsistence allowances would be halted unless reports of earnings were received November 5. Suspensions are to remain in effect until the information has been received.

VA said payments have been discontinued to 149,046 recipients and that several branch offices have not yet reported the number of delinquents in their areas. The percentage affected in various districts ranged from four to 16 per cent of the total enrolled in education and job training programs.

HOTEL STRIKE GOES ON

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21 (AP)—Unexpected snags apparently nullified negotiators' hopes for an early end of the 52-day-old hotel strike here and brought a stalemate today with no new wage talks scheduled. A long session last night between leaders of the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Alliance, the AFL-Bartenders Union, hotel management and federal conciliators broke up with spokesmen reporting no progress.

'RED' CHIEFTAIN ASSAILS CHIANG

Yenan, Nov. 18 (Delayed) (AP)—Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of China's Communist armies, charged Chiang Kai-shek today with "The entire responsibility" for national disunity and civil strife and assailed "American reactionaries" for "lending him encouragement."

In an exclusive three-hour interview, the famous guerrilla strategist declared he was preparing the defense of this Chinese Communist capital for "an important government attack."

The famed old bush fighter, who lives in the same Spartan whitewashed cave where I first met him a year ago, then launched into his criticism of Americans.

"It is regrettable," he said, "that reactionaries like Henry Luce (Time-Life publisher) and (Senator) Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who don't care one iota for what other peoples suffer or think, should have so much to do with shaping American foreign policy.

"Unless these selfish little men are repudiated by an aroused American public opinion, democracy can never have a chance in China."

The government action in calling the national assembly, he continued, marked a "clear-cut break" between Yenan and Chiang's Kuomintang party which might take years to heal.

Unveil Plaque on Wills House: One more historic spot has been commemorated with the unveiling of the bronze tablet placed on the Wills House, Center Square, on Friday by the Gettysburg Camp 112, Sons of Union Veterans.

Dr. A. E. Wagner spoke from the theme "Lincoln's Visit to Gettysburg," at the simple exercises commemorating the sixty-third anniversary of the delivery of his immortal address at the dedication of the National Cemetery here.

The three men present, who heard Lincoln on that memorable day in 1863, took part in the exercises. Judge M. W. Jacobs, of Harrisburg, gave Lincoln's address; J. D. Hemminger, of Carlisle, gave a brief talk; Dr. P. M. Bikle pronounced the benediction.

The Rev. Luther B. Hafer presided at the exercises and the Rev. W. D. E. Scott gave the invocation. Music was furnished by the Paradise Protectorate Band, of Abbottstown.

Joseph Riggs, a veteran of the Civil War, and the son of a veteran, was given the honor of unveiling the plaque.

Judge D. P. McPherson gave a brief talk on Judge Wills.

The bronze tablet is 30 by 32 inches.

Today's Talk

ON HURDLING OBSTACLES

Fortunate is that one who has known hardships. Nothing serves character so well. Only the strong in mind and heart grow and spread influence. Read the story of any life that has become notable and you will learn that that one had to go through endless trials and difficulties.

The horse has to expend great extra strength to cover a hurdle. It is the same with all of us in life. We must have reserve strength to hurdle the many obstacles that face us all from time to time. We must school ourselves to face danger, trouble, and many a dire emergency. I cannot get out of my mind that sign I saw, many years ago, that a contractor had placed on a wall where his men were at work. It read, after giving his name: "Builder of Difficult Foundations." He didn't care for the easy jobs!

We are only as big as we do—but we do best when we have done much, faced much, and overcome much. Such a procedure brings about success without exception. Obstacles whet the will. When they told the late E. H. Harriman that a railroad could not be built across the Great Salt Lake, his reply was: "Go ahead and DO it!" And, regardless of the fact that he was told it could not be done—it was! I thought of that statement when I first rode over that lake—and marveled at the power of the one who could see obstacles only to push them aside.

Every school-boy knows of that famous saying of Napoleon's—"There shall be no Alps"—when Napoleon was told that his soldiers could not march over them.

There are no obstacles that do not have some successful solution. But it takes courage and will to discover that solution. The story of this Western World is the inspiration of all the Old World, for it presents an example of what a people can do when free and with an overmastering desire to grow, to expand, and to keep building, regardless of all obstacles in the way.

The obstacles to a universal and lasting peace are many, but they can be both met and solved. In unity of purpose, and with a willingness to give and take all around, peace can be made a working affair. But every nation must WANT it, without reserve!

ASSERTS STATE LACKS PUBLIC HEALTH SCHOOL

Harrisburg, Nov. 21 (AP)—Pennsylvania today is without a single medical school to provide public health training for physicians, says Dr. William Harvey Perkins, dean of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia.

"Physicians must go outside the borders of Pennsylvania to find such institutions," he said in emphasizing that "we cannot face the criticism today of having a layman doing a physician's job in public health."

Describing the Keystone state's public health as "behind the times," he told a joint conference of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs and State Health department officials:

Not A Luxury

"A public health course of study for physicians is not a luxury item. It is a strenuous procedure and medical schools of their state have fallen flat in their failure to train medical students in public health. The schools have merely scratched the surface in this important field."

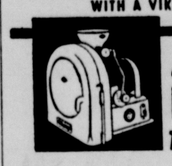

The conference also heard estimates by Dr. E. E. Shifferstine, chief of the Health department's rheumatic fever division, that the number of rheumatic fever cases in Pennsylvania "runs as high at 45,000."

"We know so little about it that no one can say with certainty what number of cases are existent," he asserted.

Dr. Shifferstine also reported 666 suspected rheumatic heart disease cases have been registered at state clinics at Altoona, Erie, Williamsport, Harrisburg and Allentown.

The conference continued today with a program highlighted by talks on rural health needs, highway and safety and a proposed program for combatting chronic alcoholism.

Court Upholds Steelworkers

Philadelphia, Nov. 21 (AP)—A federal court has upheld the CIO-Steelworkers of America in pronouncing that the union cannot be forced to disclose the names of all its members.

The action came yesterday in the latest phase of a long-standing legal battle between the Steelworkers and the Weirton Steel company.

The third U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the union to produce before a special master in Pittsburgh its financial records showing amounts paid to 36 specific Weirton employes from 1943 through 1945.

But the order stipulated the master must inspect them before deciding whether they are evidence to become public property.

VA SUSPENDS SUBSISTANCE TO 150,000 VETS

By VERN HAUGLAND

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Veterans' Administration reported Wednesday it has suspended subsistence payments to approximately 150,000 ex-GI's for failure to report earnings in school or job training.

The payments, made under the GI Bill of Rights, amount to $65 monthly for unmarried veterans in school or on job training and to $90 monthly for married men. More than 1,200,000 veterans draw the allotments.

Tuition payments, made directly to schools, are not affected.

Under legislation passed last summer, veterans' payments and earnings are limited to a total of $175 monthly for those without dependents and to $200 monthly for those with dependents. In the event those figures are exceeded, the subsistence allowances must be reduced accordingly.

The Veterans Administration warned on November 1 that the subsistence allowances would be halted unless reports of earnings were received November 5. Suspensions are to remain in effect until the information has been received.

VA said payments have been discontinued to 149,046 recipients and that several branch offices have not yet reported the number of delinquents in their areas. The percentage affected in various districts ranged from four to 16 per cent of the total enrolled in education and job training programs.

HOTEL STRIKE GOES ON

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21 (AP)—Unexpected snags apparently nullified negotiators' hopes for an early end of the 52-day-old hotel strike here and brought a stalemate today with no new wage talks scheduled. A long session last night between leaders of the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Alliance, the AFL-Bartenders Union, hotel management and federal conciliators broke up with spokesmen reporting no progress.

STATE FARM SHOW BUILDING IS TOO SMALL

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Farm Show building in Harrisburg is the largest of its type in the world but it still will lack space enough for meeting rooms for use by statewide farm organizations during the January 13-17 exposition.

State Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst, chairman of the Farm Show commission, said today that never before in the 31-year history of the Farm Show have requests for meeting rooms been so great as for the postwar renewal of the event in January.

Space was available in the Farm Show building for such meetings in pre-war shows, but officers of some organizations say they expect attendances "larger than ever this year," Horst explained.

25 Organizations

Between 600 and 800 members of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women therefore will be assigned to the education building forum on the capitol grounds, Horst said. The Future Farmers of America, close to 1,000 strong, also will use the same auditorium.

More than 25 farm organizations have notified Horst to date they expect to hold sessions during the five-day Farm Show. Every available room in the building has been assigned, he added.

"Farmers of Pennsylvania have not had the privilege of attending a Farm Show since 1942 because of the war," Horst declared. "They are 'Farm Show hungry' and will come to Harrisburg at the rate of thousands a day.

"There is every reason to believe that the record of 100,000 city and rural people per day average established in 1942 will be broken. Harrisburg agencies are cooperating in obtaining rooming facilities. Large numbers of rural people are planning to spend one or more days at the Farm Show, returning home each night."

RECOVER AUTO

The recovery of the 1937 Buick sedan of Joseph B. Martin, Marion, which was taken from the Glen L. Bream Company used car lot, west of Chambersburg, Monday night, was reported today by state police of the Chambersburg substation. Police are questioning a youth in the case.

'Draft Rayburn' Drive Underway

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—A "draft Rayburn" drive was started today by House Democrats seeking to avert a leadership fight that might wind up with an anti-administration man as official House spokesman for the party.

It grew out of reiteration by Sam Rayburn of Texas of his intention not to accept the post of Democratic floor leader to which he normally would revert when Republicans take over control of the House January 3 and he steps down as speaker.

Should further efforts to dissuade Rayburn fail, responsible Democrats said they may present his name to the Democratic caucus in January regardless of his personal feelings. The caucus will elect the party's floor leader.

POSTPONE AAUW MEET

The third meeting of the American Association of University Women will be held December 11 instead of December 4 because of the conflict with the Gettysburg Concert Association program, it was announced today.

3 BROTHERS DIE AS HOME BURNS

Morrisville, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Three small brothers burned to death in their flaming farm village cottage yesterday as their mother desperately tried to reach them.

The charred bodies of Raymond Daniels, three, and Mark Daniels, Jr., two, locked in each other's arms, were found beneath the ruins of a bed where they had fled in terror.

The third, William Daniels, six months, youngest in the family of six boys, was brought from the blazing cottage by his mother, but died of burns and asphyxiation enroute to a hospital.

A fourth child, Ronald, four, only one in the house to escape, was carried out by rescuers led to him by the terrified yelping of the family dog. Ronald suffered only slight burns.

Mrs. Erna Daniels, 23, mother of the victims, was treated for burns. She told police fire engulfed the children's bedroom after an oil stove exploded, halting her efforts to reach the tots down a narrow hallway.

County Youth On UNRRA Cattle Ship

Theodore David Horner, Gettysburg, R. 1, sailed from Newport News, Va., for Germany on the S. S. John Barton Payne on November 4. Five thousand "nautical cowboys" have been recruited from all the states in the Union and Canada. Their duties on board ship consist of feeding, watering and otherwise caring for the 200,000 animals being shipped this year.

Since June, 1945, approximately 185 trips have been made transporting horses, mules, and cattle to Greece, Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Italy. The Brethren Service Committee at New Windsor, Maryland, recruits the cowboys to care for these animals which are supplied by UNRRA.

Horner will be paid $150 and maintenance while on ship. The trips usually last from four to six weeks.

Agent Attending Insurance Confab

William A. Bigham, 38 East Middle street, special agent for the Prudential Insurance company, left today to attend a three-day insurance conference in Atlantic City. Leading producers from all parts of the country have been invited to attend the convention where new methods of estate planning, aiding veterans on national service insurance and social security will be among the items to be discussed.

Mr. Bigham graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1940 and served in the South Pacific with the 260th Field Artillery.

LONG-HERALDED WALKOUT IS ON IN COAL MINES

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21 (AP)—The long-heralded general walkout in the soft coal industry apparently was on today.

Paralysis spread through coal-producing states across the nation with the termination by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers Union of their contract with the U. S. government. The miners do not work without a contract.

Even before the midnight deadline set by Lewis, some 140,000 miners had laid down their tools in 13 states.

See Complete Stoppage

Since most miners start their work-day in daylight hours, the effectiveness of the walkout remained to be determined during the day. But on all sides there were signs the stoppage would be complete.

Government notices asking miners to stay on the job still clung to mine bulletin boards. These said the contract was still in effect, for the duration of government possession of the mines. The government took over the mines last spring to end the last big coal work stoppage.

Night shift workers signalled the start of the walkout last night by failing to report for work or by arranging to end their shift before the midnight deadline.

Eighth Walkout Since '41

Several thousands of them did not enter pits in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the greatest producing states, and similar reports came from other coal areas.

In Illinois, a survey of United Mine Workers' leaders in an 11-county area in which 18,000 UMW members were employed, showed the shutdown complete, but the progressive mine workers, who claim 18,000 working members there, stayed on the job.

The walkout of 1946 is the eighth to hit the soft coal fields since 1941. Reports from the field gave every indication miners everywhere would go along with Lewis in his tug of war with the government.

Army Mailing Out Terminal Leave Pay

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP) — After weeks of delay, the army has started mailing out millions of terminal leave bonds to former GI's.

By Christmas, War Department officials said today, it is expected that the bulk of a current backlog of some 4,000,000 claims will have been paid. Most payments are in five-year treasury bonds but cash is used for odd sums.

The Army's delay in mailing bonds since the first applications were received in September was laid to a shortage of envelopes, now ended.

The Navy's Disbursing Office at Great Lakes, Ill., has been paying navy veterans right along, and has settled more than 500,000 claims.

Some GI's face an indefinite delay in collecting their share of an estimated $2,700,000,000 voted by Congress for accumulated wartime leave, because they have failed to report change of address. Undelivered bonds and checks are returned to Army Disbursing Officers and held until correct addresses are reported.

New York Hotels Convert To Oil

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two New York hotels—the Shelton and the McAlpin—have converted their soft coal heating systems to oil as a result of periodic stoppages in the bituminous coal fields, a spokesman said today.

David H. Knott, chairman of the board of the Knott Corporation, said oil-burning equipment was installed two months ago in the hotels in anticipation of further coal disputes. He added that several other of the corporation's hotels now used a mixture of soft and hard coal and that they might be converted to oil.

"With the higher prices that usually follow a strike," Knott said, "oil is no more expensive than coal and we can always get it. We can't be bothered with these interruptions."

STATE AFL IS BACKING LEWIS

Harrisburg, Nov. 21 (AP)—The AFL-Pennsylvania Federation of Labor rallied today to the support of John L. Lewis in the current dispute with the federal government over a new wage contract for soft coal miners.

The federation's legislative conference adopted a resolution unanimously condemning a Federal Court order which directed the United Mine Workers chief to cancel a notice terminating the union's wage contract with the government.

The resolution, presented at a meeting yesterday called to frame the federation's legislative program for the 1947 session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly, termed the court order "detrimental to the interests of organized labor and the people of the country in general."

James L. McDevitt, president of the federation, said in commenting on the resolution that labor injunctions "deprive the working people of their rights without a jury trial.

The federation's legislative conference, in its program for new legislation, called for amendments to the Unemployment Compensation law "to make Pennsylvania first, instead of 40th" in benefits to unemployed wage earners. The conference directed the federation's 15-member executive council to draw up the specific recommendations.

FLYING FARE FLAGGED

Alton, Ill., (AP)—Taxicab Driver "Shorty" Summers says he was driving a passenger along Broadway at 6 o'clock the other morning when he noticed a duck flying alongside the moving cab. The duck kept shadowing him for about five blocks, Summers said. Then, he related, with one hand on the steering wheel, he reached out and grabbed the duck. A hen mallard, he said. Other ducks in the Mississippi river area were reported behaving normally.

Body Of Boy Found; Slain By Hunter

Indiana, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Tillio Kenfra, 13, of Strongstown, was listed as Indiana county's first hunting fatality of the season yesterday when his body was found in a nearby wooded area.

Coroner E. L. Fleming said a 15-year-old companion was held for investigation after he told of accidentally shooting the lad Monday and hiding his body in fright. The Kenfra boy's parents said they thought their son had stayed overnight with his hunting companion.

RAW SUGAR PRICE RISES

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—OPA increased the price of raw sugar Wednesday and notified housewives and other buyers it soon will boost the retail price of the refined product by about a half cent a pound.

The agency estimated the increase will add about $50,000,000 to consumers' annual food bills.

The retail price boost will come when grocers get sugar refined from the higher-cost raw sugar.

OPA authorized an increase of 36.5 cents a 100 pounds for raw cane sugar and 40 cents a 100 pounds for semi-refined sugars.

It said the price hike, second in two months, was required under terms of the sugar agreement between the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Cuban government covering the 1946 and 1947 sugar crops.

OPA said the new price increase applies to both cane and beet sugar to maintain the established price differentials between the two products. It applies also to domestically produced sugar, and includes shipments from Hawaii and Puerto Rico. However, OPA said, the higher price will bring a corresponding drop in government subsidy payments on domestic sugar.

GOP OPPOSITION TO TAX SLASHES

ing opposition indicated today that Republican leaders may run into a major fight against their plan for a quick 20 per cent reduction in individual income taxes once Congress meets.

In talks with reporters, two more GOP House members—Reps. Curtis and Miller of Nebraska—add their voices to those of scattering party members already questioning its wisdom.

On the Democratic side, veteran Rep. Doughton of North Carolina took a firm stand against any tax reduction until the Federal budget is balanced and a start made on reducing the Federal debt.

Doughton guided the writing of Democratic tax legislation for 12 years and his views usually command a large following in his party.

Miller disputed the right of the House Republican Steering committee to speak for all party members on tax matters, Miller and Curtis both said they considered reducing expenditures and the debt more important than immediate cuts in taxes.

LANDLOCKED

New York, (AP)—Tony Ferente, 40-year-old bricklayer, is a man of determination. At 3 a. m. yesterday, police said, he tried to stowaway on the liner Vulcania. He failed but tried again six hours later, and when rebuffed went back at 1 p. m. Tired of escorting him off the pier, police held him until 4 p. m., when the ship sailed for the Mediterranean with 925 passengers—none of them Tony.

Need Congressional OK On Pipeline Deal

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—Congressional approval is necessary before the War Assets Administration can sell the Big and Little Inch pipelines, Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) declared Wednesday.

Walter, who is scheduled to testify on the matter before the House Surplus Property committee, told a reporter that the government, in his opinion, also will encounter difficulties if it sells the $147,000,000 war-built lines for the transportation of natural gas.

Taking issue with a statement made before the committee Tuesday by War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn that WAA will ask for new bids for the lines and will consider offers from natural gas concerns, the Easton, Pa., congressman-attorney said the right-of-way granted the Federal government by Pennsylvania for the lines "stipulated that they be used for the transportation of petroleum and, or, pertoleum products—and that does not include natural gas."

Daughter Honored With Birthday Party

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Beard, Fairfield road, Tuesday evening, in honor of their daughter, Barbara Ann, who observed her first birthday anniversary.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Francis Weikert, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Weikert, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Beard, Gettysburg; Mrs. Hayes Beard and Mary Catherine Beard, Fairfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weikert, Harrisburg.

Decide Against Owners' Strike

Oklahoma City, Nov. 21 (AP)—The board of directors of the National Apartment Owners Association decided against any "landlords' strike," but adopted a resolution demanding an immediate 15 per cent increase in rent ceilings.

At the final session of their convention, the 200 delegates Tuesday night also endorsed the industry's advisory committee's recommendations for removal of OPA ceilings on new construction and for allowing owners to offer tenants leases at an increase of not more than 15 per cent under one-year contracts.

The association recommended that $250,000 be raised for newspaper advertising to present the property owners' side of the matter to the public.

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1946

It's Christmas Time In Gettysburg

Times reporter visits Gettysburg stores and tells you what you can expect to buy (in most instances) for your favorite Christmas gift.

CHRISTMAS shopping is going to be a real pleasure this year. For the first time in several long years, Gettysburg stores have "everything," or at least almost everything, that anyone's heart could desire as a Yuletide remembrance. Of course, a few scarce articles are still in the "wishful thinking" class, and almost everything costs more, but the majority of the Christmas shoppers have money to spend and thus increases up to 20 and 30 per cent in some lines are not expected to constitute any drawback to an unprecedented holiday buying spree.

Most Gettysburg merchants take a very optimistic view of the 1946 situation. They expect to do a volume of business that perhaps has never been equalled. Shoppers have the money, and they are not asking prices, according to local retailers. They see what they want, and buy it, without questioning the price. This is in sharp contrast with recent Christmas seasons. For the past several years, they had the money, but the goods just were not available. There was a war on, you may remember.

Trickle Turns Into A Stream

That is all over now. A year ago the war was over too, but whereas then goods were just beginning to trickle into the market, the trickle is now more like a stream, not a big stream yet, but better, much better than a year ago. This gives rise to the warning from merchants that Christmas shopping should be done early. A lot of people may be disappointed if they wait, because the supply still may not equal the demand, particularly in some lines.

Stores have prepared well for the 1946 Christmas shopping season. Many of them are already gaily decorated in holiday colors and trimmings, and almost all are featuring their Christmas merchandise.

War Toys Are Disappearing

Several trends away from the war years are noticeable. There is less of the war motif in children's toys, for instance. You won't see so many guns. You won't see so many tanks or toy soldiers. You'll see more dump trucks, for instance. They will be made of metal, most of them, in place of the wooden toys which replaced metal during the years when all kinds of tin, steel, lead, etc. was a vital war necessity.

You will pay more for what you buy, make no mistake about that, if, for instance, you draw comparisons with prewar prices. But the merchandise you buy has every chance of being better, or at least as good, in quality of material and workmanship.

There Are More Men's Shirts

The "horn of plenty" for the Christmas shopper will not include any super-abundance of many things and a few will be downright scarce again this year. Don't expect to find a new automobile in your garage Christmas morning unless you are one of the very few fortunate ones whose name has been reached on your dealer's "priority" list. Don't expect a dozen new men's shirts. There are a lot more for sale than there were even at a recent date, but they are sure to be snapped up quickly.

In the line of gifts for men, there are so many possibilities that no male should go short on a Christmas gift that is sure to please this year. Staple articles, such as suits and overcoats, for the practical-minded, are easier to obtain. Quality increases with the price mark, but good wool fabrics in pleasing and durable weaves are there for the discerning shopper. There are innumerable new patterns in neckties and scarfs. Leather seems to be easier to get than in recent years, and it's possible to obtain gloves or billfolds in several kinds of hides and various shades.

The cosmetics lines, for both men and women reflect, probably as much as any other line of Christmas goods, the change that 12 months has wrought. Fancy sets in special gift boxes were scarce last year. But the merchant who had three or four such sets to sell then, today has a couple of dozen or more. They make popular gifts, judging by the demand for them, according to merchants who sell them. The set may be just a box of soap, or it may be a shaving set for men, containing shaving cream or soap, after-shaving lotion, and powder, etc., or it may be a vial of perfume, or bottle of toilet water for the women.

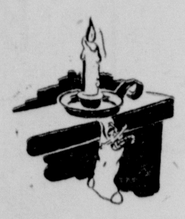

Incidentally, the old "name brands" in perfumes and toilet waters are back on the market in good supply. So are the well-known brands of men's kits. It seems to be a curious fact that while the common, kitchen variety of soap or soap flakes is so hard to get as to almost incite a riot when a store has any, the expensive (more or less) and fancy toilet soaps are considerably more plentiful.

Wide Range Of Radios

Radios are on the market in what appear to be large numbers, and in a wide variety of styles and price ranges. You can get a small table model, the kind mother can take into the kitchen with her while she does the morning's work, for only a little more than what you used to pay. You can get a console, or a combination radio-record player or a "platter machine" to hook up to your old radio. The table models are more plentiful than consoles, largely because they're plastic. There is still a shortage of cabinet woods.

So far no one has had to stand in line to get a pair of nylon stockings, but retailers say that the demand for them as Christmas gifts will grow progressively stronger, so we may see something like the stampedes of not too long ago as Christmas draws nearer.

Variety Of Electrical Gadgets

Besides more radios, there are a lot more of many kinds of electrical gadgets. There are toasters and grills and broilers and roasters and electric blankets, and kitchen mixers and door chimes and bed lamps. There won't be any great big supply of Christmas tree lights, but there will be some strings, and that is more than could be said last year. There are candles (electric) for windows or interior decoration. You will be able to get the glass balls and other tree ornaments easily this year.

This is both electrical and in the toy category and good news to the young railroader (and his dad): electric trains are back. So are the mechanical kind, where you wind up the locomotive to make it run. They are not plentiful, however, despite substantial production. As in many lines, supply has not caught up with the demand.

Incidental Pieces of Furniture

In the furniture line, there is a shortage of basic pieces because of the lumber situation, but lots of incidental pieces. The supply of upholstered furniture is better this year, at least in the higher price brackets. In other lines of home furnishings, wool rugs are coming back in much better supply and fabrics are easier to obtain.

Most of the stores feature gift sets in towels, handkerchiefs, lingerie, men's sox and novelties. There is much fancywork to be had, more sheets and pillowcases and print tablecloths.

There are good supplies of electric irons, vacuum cleaners and portable heaters. Electric ranges are coming back in increasing numbers and you can probably buy, if you don't wait too long, an electric refrigerator or deep freezer.

The leather situation applies to other things besides gloves and billfolds. While plastic materials have replaced leather to some extent in women's handbags and some substitutes are used for travel luggage, there are more articles of genuine leather. Costume jewelry seems to be about as plentiful as any single item on the Christmas counters this year. Such merchandise not only adapts itself well to the Christmas gift idea, but is popular other times of the year, and a lot is being sold.

The greatest variety of merchandise since prewar years is piling up in the stores in dozens of other lines, to mark the return of many traditional gifts missing during the lean years. Many wanted items in sporting goods are back. You can get a pair of skates, ice or roller, without much trouble this year. You can buy a football for junior, or a table tennis set, or a dozen golf balls, and a lot of other sporting goods and games.

Wide Assortment Of Toys

As for toys, the assortment seems better and more varied than ever. There are dolls to warm the heart of every young miss who receives one: talking dolls, blue-eyed, brown-eyed, red heads, blondes and brunettes, rubber, plastic and whatever else it is they make dolls out of. There are toy houses and toy kits—chemistry sets for boys and homemaking or nursing sets for girls. There are baking dish sets and small sewing machines that actually sew, and little stoves and refrigerators like mother's in miniature; there are small but workable fruit juicers and other kitchen aids almost like the real thing.

There seem to be more children's books for this Christmas than were seen last year. The paper shortage must have eased, because wrappings in gay holiday colors are more plentiful and any little girls that wants a paper doll cutout set can surely have one this year.

Early Shopper Gets Preference

With the demand rapidly reaching its peak, it is again appropriate to warn about early shopping. Bicycles, for instance, are sold almost as quickly as they can be taken out of their crates. Golf clubs are among the "somewhat scarce" items.

Cameras still seem to be a scarce item. The prospects are a little better than a year ago, however. There are more watches, particularly American-made, than in 1945. No large supply of silverware is ready yet but it's possible to buy table sets, with incidental pieces scarcer.

If the gift is for a wee infant, the chances of getting it are better. The supply of baby shirts and panties, wooly bootees and sweaters, blankets, etc., is better, as is rubber sheeting and other items.

More Sweets For Christmas

In spite of the sugar shortage there will be candy for Christmas. Prices have gone up as much as 30 per cent but if you want to pay the price there will be sweets for the holiday, both in gift packages and for the candy jar.

We haven't seen the old-fashioned ribbon candy yet, but maybe it's too early. Peppermint and other flavored stick candy is obtainable, however. The expensive candy is still very good candy, despite the shortage, but it's not around yet like it used to be. Cheaper candy is more plentiful but of not as good quality as it used to be for the same price.

If the Christmas shopping picture still looks a bit "spotty" it is going to be a great deal better Christmas than we have had in several years.

FRENCH LOOK FORWARD TO A NORMAL XMAS

Paris, Nov. 21 (AP)—Frenchmen will be able to celebrate Christmas this year in something more like the traditional manner, according to current market and food conditions.

Foodstuffs have been relatively plentiful throughout the summer and autumn. Hundreds of restaurants have reopened in the Paris area, many of them serving excellent meals at moderate prices. Even swank black market restaurants which once charged at least 1,500 francs a meal are now demanding between 500 and 1,000 francs.

Shops Are Stocked

Shop windows which at liberation were either empty or filled with unsalable samples are now well stocked with dresses, suits, shirts, children's clothing and toys. Most of the prices are still high, but goods are available—an encouraging advance over last Christmas.

The American military establishment in France is not thinking much about Christmas, at least not yet. According to present plans, all but a very few of them will be out of France by then, some of them home, but most of them transferred into Germany.

Under the present schedule, the Army's western base section will close December 1. Remaining installations at Marseilles, Rheims and LeHavre are due to be closed before then. Graves Registration, Air Transport Command, and a few other special units are about all that will remain to observe Christmas here.

Big City Dazzle Beats U.N. Babel

Lake Success, N. Y. (AP)—Speaking in six languages doesn't faze Violeta Van Ronzelen, blonde, green-eyed Peruvian interpreter of the UN Assembly, but the rush and hubbub of New York city does.

The 25-year-old stewardess of Pan American Grace Airways was given special leave of absence to interpret for the South American delegates. At first she was thrilled by New York, but now the constant hurrying to keep appointments has nearly driven her frantic.

Miss Van Ronzelen speaks English, Spanish, French, Portuguese, Italian and German.

Give 'Em Glamour

(By The Associated Press)

A Yule gift of beauty aids can make any girl happy even if it is just a box of powder or a lipstick as a little added gift to flatter her vanity.

Even POP can come in for his share of pampering in the cosmetic department, for what man doesn't like to sprinkle himself with talc or tonic? There are handsome shaving kits containing soap, dusting powder and after-shave lotions in outdoor he-man scents. Gadgets such as a travel kit containing razor, comb and hairbrush will come in mighty handy for business trips.

MOM, who spend all her time planning for everybody else will love a glamor gift that she wouldn't buy for herself. A hand-shaped compact or a kit containing all the nail essentials for tired, busy hands will be just the ticket. A toilet water and atomizer set is another tree brightener for Mom.

BIG SIS is the gal who will appreciate some perfume enclosed in a ballet slipper; or a silver or gold pill box containing cream perfume; or 4 lipslicks on a gold lame purse. A chatelaine lipstick is perfect for a busy girl—the whole lipstick operation can be achieved with one hand. The cap and case are fastened with a chain and the top can be flicked off in a jiffy.

The TEEN AGER who is very discriminating about her cosmetics will love some scented soap, cologne, sachet hangers or sachet bags that can be made at home if you are feeling ambitious. Since teen agers are so proud of that satin sheen on their crowning glories, one of the really welcome gifts this year is a small leather zippered kit which containing a miniature hair brush, comb and clothes brush of lucite.

There are even one or two things on the cosmetic shelf that you can get for BABY if you are stuck for an idea for that little nephew or niece. Baby sets consisting of lotion, cream and baby oil done up in pretty pink, blue or white sets are decorative as well as serviceable in the nursery.

And for that little girl SUB-SUB-DEB you can find a melody music box containing sachet, lip pomade (like Mom uses), bubble bath, shampoo, dusting powder, hand lotion and toilet water. These are all essential to teaching the little lady early the importance of being sweet and well groomed. She can also get these good-grooming helpers in a shoulder strap travel kit.

As late as 1912 most movies consisted of one or two reel films.

CHIPPEWAS TO SEEK UN HELP

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 21 (AP)—The Mlineota Chippewa Indians have laid aside their pipe of peace and decided to seek United Nations' aid in the restoration of their "sovereign rights" to hunt, fish and trap as of old.

The action was taken yesterday by tribal leaders as they crowded around a wood-burning stove at the Fond Du Lac reservation council chamber for their annual pow-wow on tribal problems.

Chieftains pointed out that the Chippewas held sufficient sovereignty to claim protection of UN as an "oppressed nation," citing that the United States had always dealt with them by treaty. This, they said, they interpreted as an admission that the tribe held national status.

"But," said Interpreter Ed Wilson of Ball Club, Minn., "The United States has never given the Chippewas copies of these treaties. The United States has never respected its own signed words. We hold that the government has dealt with us in bad faith. We believe we have a case for the United Nations."

Wilson said the Chippewas must fish, hunt and trap to make a living, adding, "but the white man say, 'no.'"

Put More Color In Men's Clothes

(By The Associated Press)

Ever since the first veteran of World War II got his honorable discharge papers, the trend has been towards color in men's apparel as a startling change-over from the dull, drab service uniforms of the war years. The first real splurge in color was reflected in men's neckwear and hose—then shorts, pajamas and shorts apparel went in for color combinations, frequently bizarre, but usually acceptable.

Now hats are being called to the colors. A new streamlined Casual Hat that is pre-blocked to shape—in a drizzle-resistant linen-type fabric—is offered in 10 flattering colors—Beige, Indian Wheat, Natural, Grey, Sky Blue, Sport Green, Gold, Indian Corn, London Tan and Coral.

MYRICKS SHOW FINE ANTIQUES IN THEIR HOTEL

A story about the "unusual collection of antiques" displayed in the lobby of the St. Charles hotel, Petersburg, Florida, recently appeared in a Petersburg newspaper. Mrs. Myrick is the owner of the hotel and Mr. Myrick is a former resident of Gettysburg who returns here frequently for visits.

The story, written by Frances White, follows:

"'Ever hear the story of our little lamp from the home of Jennie Wade, only civilian killed in the battle of Gettysburg?'

"So begins T. J. Myrick's account of one of the most beautiful antiques in his large collection in the St. Charles hotel lobby.

"'Jennie Wade and my grandmother were intimate girl friends in Gettysburg, Pa. On the first day of the famous battle they stood on a street corner, waving a Union flag and singing 'Yankee Doodle,'" Myrick said.

"'The battle raged another day and Jennie, while kneading dough in the kitchen, was killed by a stray bullet which flew through the open door.'

"Myrick said his grandmother bought the small cut glass lamp from Jennie's home when the Wade furniture was sold at a public sale. The lamp has a row of glass prisms around the shade and has now been wired for electricity.

"When Myrick had finished his tale, Mrs. Myrick was ready with one about the lamp that belonged to President James Buchanan. It's a large metal table lamp with a shade covered with varicolored stones.

"'The lamp was given to President Buchanan by someone in China,' she said. 'It is more than 100 years old and was sold from Buchanan's Chambersburg, Pa., home.'

"Over the piano hangs a huge gold-framed mirror which formerly hung over the fireplace in the late Samuel Bushman's home in Gettysburg. Bushman was the uncle of the famous silent film star, Francis X. Bushman. Myrick knew the Bushman family.

"Two intricately designed porcelain jardinieres in the lobby are from Harry K. Thaw's home. The millionaire playboy and murderer of Stanford White, New York architect, sold the jardinieres to one of Mrs. Myrick's friends, who in turn sold them to her.

"One of Mrs. Myrick's favorite antiques is the 200-year-old square piano which she had made into a desk. She said the piano came from England.

"A large grandfather's clock, made in Germany in 1753, was bought by Myrick from a friend in Biglerville, Pa. Other relics include a doorstop made from a cannon ball found on the battlefield at Gettysburg; an 80-year-old afghan made by Myrick's mother in the Civil war days and a bird's eye maple, four-poster canopy bed.

"'I've traveled thousands of miles to get my cut glass chandeliers,' Mrs. Myrick said. They were made in Czechoslovakia.

"Antique-collectors at heart, the Myricks have been owner-managers of the 40-room hotel at 245 Central avenue for the last 13 years."

There Is A Santa

(By The Associated Press)

TO A MOTHER:

Yes, Mother, I know there is a Santa Claus.

I've known it ever since I was six years old and peeked out of the bedroom on Christmas Eve to see you, by the light of the parlor oil lamp, setting out a whole row of toys for me under our skimpy little tree.

I knew right then that you must have had Santa's help, because there just wasn't enough money in the world to buy presents like that—not after father's death there wasn't.

Never since then have I peeked again on Christmas Eve. I haven't had to. Santa has always come to help you. I'm sure of that. And, funny thing, now that I have a job of my own here in the city, he has come to help me. That's why I am able to send you this little remembrance — but there isn't enough money in the world to buy you what I'd like.

—Margaret

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP)—After Olive Mae Mulica of Denver fell into a manhole she assured Police Chief I. B. Bruce that she didn't want any monetary damages from the city for minor personal injuries but—

She very definitely does want the municipal fathers to replace the nylons torn in the mishap.

PITCHFORK AND FARM SHOVELS ARE ON WAY OUT

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—Almost lost in news of more world-shaking events during the war years was the decline and fall of the time-honored scoop shovel and pitchfork on American farms.

They're still holding on by grace of shortages in power loading and unloading machinery, but many farm experts are agreed these hand tools soon may be as nearly extinct as the whooping crane.

The earliest written record of scoop shovels appeared in a book on farming published in England in 1844. A farm adviser of the time suggested a wood scoop shovel was a handy thing to have around a grain bin. The scoops later were made of metal for greater durability when use of the tool spread to the United States.

Shovel production last year hit one of the highest levels in history, but wholesale hardware dealers say that was mostly a result of "catching up" with the lower production during the war.

In 1943 fewer than 5,000,000 shovels and spades were turned out, but in 1944 this number more than doubled to better than 11,000,000 and last year it went above 11,640,000, a U. S. census of manfacturers reported.

But now as fast as farm machinery can fill the demand, use of the old callous-makers is expected to fall away rapidly.

New machines like the hydraulic tractor-operated grain loader, one-man self-propelled grain combines and hay balers, and hydraulic dump trucks are sounding the knell for the scoops and forks.

Mostly the cause of the change is to be found in farm economics, however, rather than in any disinclination for backbreaking work on the part of the nation's farmers.

Shovels Make Bottlenecks

A harvesting rig may cost a farmer $2,500 and a scoop shovel $2.50 but he doesn't see much sense in letting expensive equipment stand idle while he shovels grain by hand. Neither does he want the shovel to create a bottleneck in the speedy grain movement made possible by machines.

He applies the same logic to his haying activities.

Another factor is that hired hands who used to do most of the shoveling and pitching are costing more than ever before. Average farm wages bounded from $27.39 a month including board in 1939 to $74.60 last year.

Just as tractors and automobiles pushed out the less economical horse, power equipment is pushing out hired hands and hand tools, the experts say.

Mechanized Farming

So U. S. census figures show production of pick-up hay balers, sweep rakes, stacker-loaders, harvester-thresher combinations, and farm elevators continued to increase in spite of the war.

For example, sweep rakes went up from 5,244 units manufactured in 1935 to 12,106 in 1944 and 17,699 last year. Combines leaped from 3,872 units produced in 1935 to 44,704 in 1944 and 51,418 last year.

This year's production has not been estimated, but farm advisors contend mechanization will continue as rapidly as machinery makers can settle their labor problems and go into full-scale production.

The number of combines on farms this year is the highest on record, it is estimated.

Some 75 per cent of the nation's wheat acreage last year and 40 per cent of the oats were harvested by combines. Ten years earlier less than half of the wheat and only 15 per cent of the oats were harvested in this way.

ARABIAN SPICE BEVERAGES IN OLD LEGATION

Washington—In the $290,000 Moorish-style legation newly occupied by the Minister of Saudi-Arabia, an Arabian soda-jerker called Daoud is the most popular character.

Since his religion forbids the drinking or serving of alcoholic beverages the minister, Sheikh Asad Al-Fagih, in true diplomatic fashion and in deference to his own sweet tooth, had a soda fountain instead of a bar installed in his home.

Behind its shining counter, Daoud (pronounced David) presides with great eloquence, especially when the Sheikh entertains. A large number of Washington palates, jaded with stronger stuff, get a real kick out of the concoctions Daoud dreams up.

Makes U. S. Sodas

Although Daoud has only been in this country three months he can turn out anything from a strawberry whatcha-ma-callem to an elaborate banana split. Daoud learned his profession the easy way. He just visited all the soda fountains he could find and ordered and ate various sodas and sundaes until he learned how to make them himself.

Most of the American guests at the legation like the strawberry and chocolate affairs, or the cider (not hard) which flows from one gadget of the fountain. The Saudi-Arabians, however, just dote on Tutti-frutti.

Daoud draws on all his imagination for this. Over a couple of scoops of ice cream he lavishly spreads bananas, peaches, pineapple, raisins, nuts and gobs of whipped cream.

The Saudi-Arabians bought the great 15-room Woodland Drive mansion from Rep. Wardsworth (R-N.Y.) for $90,000. They spent $200,000 fixing it up. They seem to be more proud of the soda fountain room at the back of the house than anything else.

"The Sun Room"

There is another favorite nook—the sun room. It has been completely redecorated in vari-colored tiles. It has a fountain and potted palms.

Most of the color scheme is achieved in cream. Even the furniture is this color. Arabian tapestries are exquisitely draped at the windows and priceless rugs cover every floor.

Outside, the building is painted white and green—colors in the Arabian flag.

The Minister has four servants—a cook, two maids and a butler. His wife and five children are in Arabia but expect to come to Washington early next year.

Washington society will have its first formal look-see at the legation late this month, when the Minister will entertain in honor of two princes from his country. They are Prince Faisal, son of the king and chairman of his country's delegation to the UN, and his brother, Prince Naser, Governor of Riyadh.

On this occasion Daoud is likely to have his hands full. The Minister has invited 900 guests and they won't all be calling for cider.

MAY SUCCEED JOSEF STALIN

Moscow, Nov. 21 (AP) — Georgii Maximilianovich Malenkov, who was recently appointed to the important Council of Ministers, has been spoken of in British quarters as a possible successor to Prime Minister Joseph Stalin himself.

Though now only 45 years old, Malenkov fought through the Russian Revolution as a volunteer and joined the Communist Party in 1921, thereafter climbing rapidly to political power. His new job puts him in the top executive body of the U.S.S.R.

Before being relieved of his duties in the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet to become a vice chairman of the ministerial council, he had been one of the secretaries of the central committee of the Communist party, a member of the organizational bureau of the party and a member of the politburo.

In one of his most recent public speeches, the sandy-haired, firm-eyed organizer said, "It is no secret that friends respect us because we are strong."

When Germany attacked the Soviet Union in 1941, he became a member of the state committee for defense. His work in increasing the production of planes won him the Order of Lenin and later the award of Hero of Socialist Labor.

As a vice chairman of the council, Malenkov will be working with the top leaders.

Labor Is Adding Note Of Harmony

Chicago (AP)—A new note of labor harmony comes from Local 241 of the International Chemical Workers union (AFL).

Members are taking in the operas and concerts, hiring musical artists to perform before their monthly business meetings, and they're organizing a chorus.

The program was arranged by Samuel Laderman, president of the 1,500 members, city-wide local. Five per cent of the dues is set aside for education and recreation. Money from this fund is used to buy tickets at the subscription price—usually around $2.40—and the tickets are sold to unionists at half this price.

Exotic Fruit Freeze Heads Toward Market

New York (AP)—Exotic fruits, which formerly only the very wealthy could afford to grow for eating fresh, will soon be available to the average American, says Theodore U. Delson, head of Southland Product company.

The only difference there will be between the "millionaire" fruits and the average American's is that the latter will be quick-frozen, Relson says. Research is well under way on the company's 800 acres of experimental farms in Florida in growing and quick-freezing varieties of fruits that could never be shipped fresh because they are too delicate to stand long hauls.

The Agricultural School at the University of Florida is cooperating.

Denver (AP)—The Colorado Game and Fish department has completed transplanting of 32 mountain sheep from a herd of more than 800 in the Tarryall range near Colorado Springs to the high peaks above Georgetown. Director Cleland N. Feast said 32 was the largest number of the wild and shrewd animals ever captured in a single wire fence trap.

GOP GLAMOR TO SPARK SOCIETY IN U.S. CAPITAL

Washington, Nov 21.—Come January, the Capital's social roster will get a shot in the arm with the coming to town of new glamor—a la Republican.

A top drawer social registerite from New York's exclusive Tuxedo Park district, expected to be a leader in the Washington whirl, is Mrs. George St. George.

Her beauty and brains will be an added contribution to the congressional picture as well, as she has been elected representative from the 29th district.

She is a first cousin of the late President F. D. Roosevelt, through her mother, Mrs. Price Collier, a sister of the President's mother. She is a talented hostess as well as a keen politician.

Always active in political affairs, she has been successively vice chairman of her own Orange county committee, manager of the Republican campaign in 1942, county chairman in 1943 and a delegate to the 1944 Republican convention.

Former Solon Returns

Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland, O., first elected to Congress in 1940, is coming back again as Republican representative from her district.

She is a well-known and extremely popular figure around Washington. Her grandfather Oliver Henry Payne, was a former U. S. Senator. Her father H. B. Payne, was a confidant of such distinguished political personages as former Presidents William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft.

She is a woman of considerable means and a rather swankey background. . . which makes her more than socially acceptable. She was educated at the exclusive Hathaway-Brown school in Cleveland and Miss Spence's School in New York city.

Two Beauties Coming

Two beauteous Mrs. Lodges—the wife of Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican Senator from Massachusetts; and the wife of Henry's brother, John Davis Lodge, Republican congressman taking the seat of Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut—are coming here too.

Both of the Lodge boys are tall and handsome and are the sons of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. The younger Henry Cabot Lodge resigned his seat in the Senate to volunteer for the Army. When they lived here before they occupied an attractive old house in Georgetown.

Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge is typically "Boston." Tall and aristocratic, she claims to prefer a quiet family life to a strictly social one, but she is hep to all the tricks. When she first arrived here she conscientiously called on all Senators' wives and otherwise carried out the duties expected of a Washington hostess. She was a hit too.

Her sister-in-law, the former Francesca Bragiotti, is a member of the talented Bragiotti family of New York. She herself was a well-known dancer before her marriage. Her brother Mario is a pianist, and her sister, Gloria, now Mrs. Emlen Ettingis, is a great social success in Manhattan.

John Lodge was a successful film actor, and the Lodges lived abroad for several years while he played in British, French and Italian films.

Plant collectors in Latin America must obtain permits from the government of countries in which they work.

BRIDGE GETS HOT FOOT

Sidney, Australia (AP) — The 1,650 ft. long single span bridge across Sydney harbor catches fire on an average of once a week. The fires occur in the wooden decking of the rail track sections. The main causes are cigarette butts, which lodge in crevices jammed with old tram tickets and are fanned by the wind. It has become necessary to increase the number of hydrants to one every 100 ft.

Christmas Sweetmeats

(By The Associated Press)

There must be candies for Christmas, but in this year of 1946 most of us are so short of sugar that we find it impossible to figure out any way to make our usual holiday sweet-meats.

Molasses and corn syrup both come to the rescue, so that you and your young and your friends (if you're good enough to make some for them) may all have candy for Christmas. For two of the following recipes a little bit of sugar is needed, but the third is entirely sugarless—and they're all good. Try and see!

Molasses Walnut Squares

2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1 cup New Orleans molasses.
1/3 cup sugar.
½ cup walnut meats.
Few grains salt.

Melt the butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the molasses and sugar. Stir until boiling starts and again as mixture begins to get thick. Boil to 250 degrees or until a drop in cold water forms a hard ball. Add walnut meats sprinkled lightly with salt. Pour into a well-buttered pan, cool slightly and mark in small squares.

Molasses Cocoanut Chews

½ cup molasses.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
2 cups shredded cocoanut.

Combine syrup, molasses, vinegar and butter or margarine. Place over low flame and stir until mixture boils. Continue boiling to 240 degrees or until a little dropped in cold water becomes brittle. Remove from fire and add cocoanut. Drop from two forks or greased surface. This makes 28 chews.

Raisin Crunch

1 cup seedless raisins.
½ cup molasses.
½ cup brown sugar.
½ cup shortening.
¼ cup water.
¼ teaspoon salt.

"Plump" the raisins by covering with boiling water and allowing them to stand a very few minutes. Drain and dry the raisins. Boil together molasses, sugar, shortening and water until it reaches the hard crack stage (290 degrees) when tested in cold water. Stir constantly to prevent burning. Remove from fire, add salt and raisins and pour into a buttered pan. When cold break into pieces.

Romanians Flock To United States Exhibit

Bucharest (AP)—More than 200,000 Romanians attended a month-long exhibition depicting life in America which was put on here by the U. S. Office of Information. During the month 30,000 copies of American magazines and 15,000 maps of the United States were also distributed.

The exhibit consisted of approximately 500 enlarged photographs showing such government projects as the Tennessee Valley Authority as well as scenes of American home life, private industry and transportation.

Attendance at first was slow because of an intensive Anti-U. S. propaganda drive, according to officials. However, the high-point occurred when the Communist-controlled general federation of labor urged Bucharest factories to organize parties of workers to see the exhibition.

ELLWOOD CITY TRIES COMEBACK

Ellwood City, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—The approximately 14,000 residents of this industrial Lawrence county city are making an industrial comeback—before a heavy economic blow falls.

Faced with loss of the city's principal industry and its $23,000,000 annual payrolls in four or five years when the U. S. Steel Corp. plans to move its National Tube Co. plant to Gary, Ind., Ellwood City citizens decided to launch a counter-action.

They formed the Ellwood City Industrial Corp., a non-profit making institution, to offset loss of about 3,700 jobs.

The corporation, with stock selling at $100 a share, has begun its job of attracting new, small, diversified industries to the community. Russell J. Schill, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said the $400,000 worth of stock already sold is only a promise of things to come. "We haven't got started yet," he declared.

The corporation plans to buy land and build and remodel existing buildings as an inducement to industries looking for sites. Under construction now is one new building for a mattress cover factory and two other buildings are being renovated for industries. Three additional industries are ready to locate here as soon as sites are available.

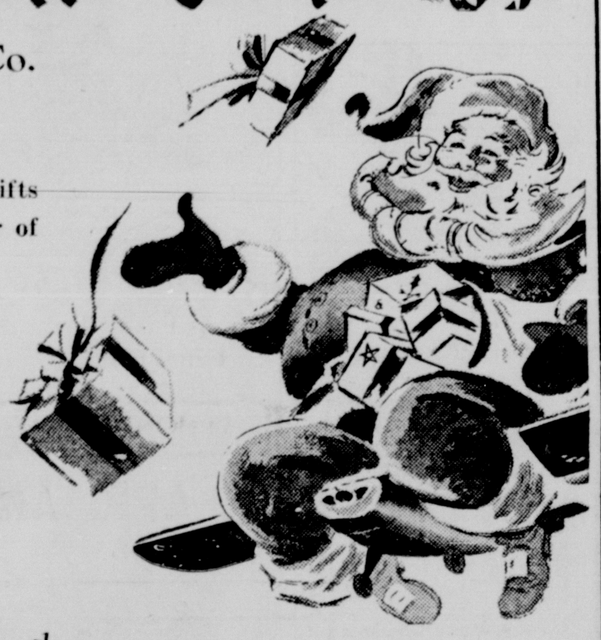

Representatives of Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, El Salvador, Guatemala, Panama, Paraguay and Uruguay have signed an agreement for joint action in control of locusts.

MOTHER OF CHRISTMAS 'TB' STAMP

(By The Associated Press)

"Help us, Emily!" pleaded young Dr. Joseph Wales on a bleak afternoon a few months before Christmas, 1907. "Otherwise we'll have to turn out those poor sufferers to die."

For the last hour, he and his cousin, Emily Bissell, Wilmington, Del., social worker, had been reviewing the dogged daring experiment of a group of Wilmington doctors who sought to cure tuberculosis the No. 1 killer of the times. In an age when people believed the white plague doomed its victims to certain death, they had assembled eight charity patients in a little shack on the banks of the Brandywine for which they paid Alfred duPont a dollar-a-year rent, and were trying the effects of fresh air, rest and the right food. The patients were making progress, but the funds had run out. So Dr. Wales appealed to his cousin for help.

That's how the Christmas tuberculosis stamp was born.

Raises Huge Fund

Most people would have quailed and quit before the problem. What Emily Bissell did started a ball rolling that has amassed in 39 years $165,000,000 which has been used to battle the disease back to seventh place among the killers. Today both the annual stamp sale and the battle are conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association. This year the fight is being waged with renewed vigor because tuberculosis is still the biggest killer of young people from 15 to 35, who are working to acquire an education, start a career and build a home.

Only $300 were needed to carry on that early battle on the banks of the Brandywine, but Emily Bissell racked her brain for days before she found an answer.

"Then I remembered a story by Jacob Riis of a Christmas stamp that originated in Denmark," she recalled recently. "It was sold to raise money for a sanitarium for tubercular children. I thought, 'Why not get out a stamp to raise money for the shack?'"

Much Discouragement

So she began. She waded through a forest of discouragement. Many considered fresh air a threat in those days of closed rooms. Others were horrified at the idea of coupling "Merry Christmas" with the most effective killer of the times. Still others said a penny stamp could never raise enough to make a difference.

But Emily Bissell continued to blaze her trail and people began to help her. She drafted the crimson and white design for the first stamp—a wreath around the words "Merry Christmas"—and an artist whipped it into shape. Two women friends gave ten dollars apiece to help. A printer did the work and agreed to take his pay when it came. The Wilmington postmaster permitted stamps to be sold in the post-office lobby.

Sales Were Slow

Sales were fairly slow at first, but Emily Bissell gave them a push by taking her story to a Philadelphia newspaper. It did a series of stories. The stamps began to sell like hot cakes. At the end of the season they had brought $3,000—ten times the goal. Last year they raised $15,500,000. The funds are used to educate the public, operate clinics and nursing services, train personnel.

Most of the money amassed by the stamps to fight tuberculosis has come from the "little people" who could give from ten cents to a dollar apiece. Miss Bissell has pinned her faith on them since the days of the first sale when a grimy little newsboy pushed into the office and dropped a penny on the counter:

"Gimme one," he said. "Me sister's got it!"

Switzerland Has Housing Shortage

Zurich (AP)—The housing shortage is a familiar refrain to Zurich, which has a total of 107,260 dwellings and not a single one available to rent.

The situation is almost as critical elsewhere in Switzerland. In Basel at least 80 families have been living in hotels, in the homes of relatives, in barracks or other makeshift arrangements. In Biel, some 70 families were served with eviction notices and had no prospect of renting elsewhere.

The housing shortage is attributed principally to the wartime influx of refugees, resumption of tourist traffic and the dearth of new construction during the war.

Empire State Siren Now Rural Alarm

Lovell, Me. (AP)—Atop a 30-foot tower on the outskirts of this Maine village stands the siren which alerted residents of New York city from the top of the Empire State building for possible air raids during the war years. Now it is used as a fire alarm signal, operated by remote control from the local telephone office switchboard.

CARE NEEDED IN SELECTING KIDDIES' TOYS

(By The Associated Press)

Selection of the right toy for the right age is one of the most important duties of pinch-hitting Santas. There is nothing so disappointing to a bright lad of 12, for instance, as to unwrap a gay Christmas package and find a stuffed teddy bear—or for a three-year-old to receive a complicated chemistry set, far too advanced for his years.

Most toy departments nowadays have toys grouped as to age groups and interests, and a competent salesperson usually is able to give sound advice.

Gift buying for children requires special care, says the Toy Guidance Council, which attempts to provide adequate information on appropriate toys to stores throughout the country. If you are buying for children other than your own, ask their parents what you can get that will not duplicate their other gifts.

Plan Your Selection

Because a child's attention span is short, the council suggests a planned selection of toys that provide a variety of play activities—something for play alone, something for group play, something that presents a creative challenge, challenge, somethin gtha orod ETA something that provides outdoor exercise.

For the littlest children, push and pull toys are always good, as are the new alphabet blocks in gay colors, with rounded corners. Rubber toys also are back on the market chemistry sets also are popular with this year.

For any little girl between the ages of four and ten, a dollhouse is a constant delight. There are all kinds and sizes available this year. Dollhouse furniture can be added from time to time.

All boys love trains, and this year electric trains are once more available—some that puff smoke. Metal construction sets and elaborate older boys.

There are games for all ages, and musical toys of various kinds that also are good for both boys and girls of all age groups; for the toddlers, metal xylophones, for the older children, harmonicas or piccolos.

A little care in toy selection will pay dividends in enjoyment.

Per capita income in the South rose from 55 per cent of the U. S. average in 1929 to 69 per cent in 1945.

Overseas Santa Claus

(By The Associated Press)

A bitter wind was blowing on the day, a few weeks before Christmas, 1944, when a little knot of French men and women gathered in the cemetery at Ivry to lay flowers on the graves of five teen-age resistance workers, shot by the Nazis.

Bitter thoughts churned in their minds as they began to trudge back to town through the wind-swept, war-torn countryside.

"Perhaps," said one, thinking aloud, "one would not suffer so much if one tried to help these others. We lost our children, but there are women and children who have lost their breadwinners. For them it must be even worse—if it could be worse."

"One could begin right now—for Christmas," said a woman, smiling for the first time in months. "There is an old coat of Jacque's. I could make some warm little jackets of it."

New Association

"I have a little chocolate," said another.

And so was born the Association Nationale des Familles de Fusilles et Massacres (The National Association of the Families of the Shot and Massacred).

A letter telling of its work crossed the Atlantic several months later. Last February seven men nd women gathered in a Greenwich Village apartment to launch the American committee, known as the Friends of Widows and Orphans of the French Resistance. It is now allied with American Aid to France and its chairman is Mrs. Robin McKown, assistant to an official of the Book of the Month club.

For the last few months the committee has devoted its energies to playing Santa Claus. It already has dispatched many boxes to brighten Noel for more than 1,000 children, whose parents were killed in the French Resistance. The boxes contained stuffed animals to cuddle, rubber balls to bounce, bright toys and marbles, new sweaters, sugar, canned butter, bacon, sweet chocolate and other food.

"We raised the money for them in a lot of different ways," said Mrs. McKown, a pretty dark-eyed blonde, pausing a minute at her busy desk. "Jean Benoit, a French painter, gave us a painting and we auctioned that. Then we had a toy party and charged a dollar or a toy as admission. We also gave a big supper dance at a New York hotel.

"The shipping boys at the Book of the Month club gave one lunch hour every two weeks to packing and shipping all the things."

After Christmas the committee will concentrate on its year-round job of sending food, clothing and medicines to orphans and families who lost their breadwinners in the resistance.

The 60 members, most of whom are business men and women, have enrolled 300 American foster parents. Each sends two packages a month, costing a total of about $15. Hundreds of others have clubbed together in groups of 15 or 20 to "adopt" an orphan. Packages are dispatched directly to the orphan, whose name is supplied by the French committee.

Eskimo Veterans Going To Cities

Seattle, Nov. 21 (AP)—Having seen what it is like "outside," young Alaskan Eskimos who left their villages and reindeer herds in the far north are not returning home, R. B. Bolton, Veterans Administration contact representative, discovered on a trip from Nome to Point Barrow.

Instead they are going to Nome, Anchorage, Fairbanks and other Alaska towns where opportunities are greater. Many are going into business with GI loans and others plan to obtain a government education.

This has alarmed the older natives, Bolton said upon his return to Seattle, because they have learned that once a youth gets a taste of the outside world he never returns.

The ex-servicemen, who have gone back to their villages, are keenly interested in the various phases of the GI Bill of Rights, Bolton said. He received many inquiries about terminal pay and the educational features from the Eskimos.

SEEK MILLION FOR EDUCATION

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP) — A campaign for a $1,000,000 fund for general education on the social implications of atomic energy was opened here Sunday by Professor Albert Einstein and eight other scientists.

Einstein, in a nationwide radio broadcast (NBC), said of the fund appeal that "our efforts have their origin in a feeling of the heavy responsibility which physicists have taken upon themselves by the creation of the atom bomb—the intellectual workers cannot successfully intervene directly in the political struggle.

"They can achieve, however, the spreading of clear ideas about the situation and the possibility of successful action. They can contribute through enlightenment to prevent able statesmen from being hampered in their work by antiquated opinions and prejudices."

Other signers were Harold C. Urey, University of Chicago; Hans A. Bethe, Cornell; Thorfin R. Hogness, University of Chicago; Philip M. Morse, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Linus Pauling, California Institute of Technology; Leo S. Szilard, University of Chicago; Victor F. Weisskopf, M. I. T., and Selig Hecht, Columbia university.

The people of China have been drinking tea for at least 1,600 years.

Korean Yule

(By The Associated Press)

Seoul, Korea — Approximately 50,000 U. S. troops in Korea will celebrate Christmas and New Year's holidays on the company level with unit commanders responsible for arrangements. An extra ration of turkeys is planned for all army messes on each of the two holidays.

The 380 children under ten years old in the 650 army families in the occupied area will have local fir Christmas trees, like the ones they knew at home, and presents imported by parents.

Special church services will be conducted in all Army chapels and Korean churches on Christmas and New Year's.

Koreans observe the holidays much as Americans do, with church attendance, Christmas trees, municipal decorations and family dinners. This will be their second Christmas since their liberation from the Japanese, who banned observance of the holidays by Koreans during the war.

Korea's holiday weather usually approximates that of the northern United States—snow with temperature around zero.

Less than 10,000,000 people live on the island of Sumatra.

YANK, GERMAN KIDS TO SING XMAS CAROLS

Berlin, Nov. 21 (AP)—This Christmas, for the first time since the war, American and German children will sing carols together.

These groups are now rehearsing weekly for appearances during the holiday week in Army hospitals and other American institutions.

The American children are teenagers, 14 to 18 years old, dependents of soldiers and military government personnel stationed here. They are a group without a club name, organized by Mrs. Robert A. McClure, wife of Brigadier General McClure, chief of the American Military Government's information control section.

Mrs. McClure organized the young group at the request of the American Women's Club of Berlin, of which she is a member. Its social activities include a monthly dance at which young people of the Allied nations are guests.

Now the American group, numbering about 50, has formed a choral group which has joined with about 20 members of the German Madrigal choral group for Christmas singing. They practice every Tuesday afternoon under a German singing instructor at an American-occupied hotel here.

Their main holiday appearances will be on Christmas Eve, when they will ride about the city on sleighs or hayracks supplied by the American 16th Constabulary Squadron.

The German singers selected for the joint group also are teen-agers.

1950 Will Bring Six Million More Homes

Washington, (AP)—The Census Bureau says that when the decade ends in 1950 these two things will have happened to American households:

15,000,000 new ones will be formed.

9,000,000 will be broken up.

Thus there will be a net gain of 6,000,000 households.

In Census Bureau parlance, a household is a head of family plus relatives, lodgers and others living under the same roof and sharing common household arrangements. Total U. S. families in 1950 will be 41,000,000.

The reason for the big increase in the number of families is the record marriage rate in the past few years—2,000,000 a year. This is 50 per cent higher than in the late 1930's. Many of the newlyweds have put off setting up new households until more housing is available and their economic situation is better.

Reason for the breaking up of the 9,000,000 homes: Chiefly death and divorce.

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came the wise men from the East to Jerusalem... FIRST WOMAN EDITOR GIVEN RECOGNITION

(By The Associated Press)

A new American heroine has been brought to life from the musty records of Colonial New York, to stand beside such figures as Betsy Ross and Martha Washington as one of the gallant feminine figures of American history.

She is Anna Zenger, America's first newspaperwoman, described as the inspiration and goading spirit of this country's first free newspaper by Kent Cooper, in his historical novel, "Anna Zenger, Mother of Freedom."

Known for his own determined fight to maintain freedom of the press in a modern world threatened by dictatorships, Mr. Cooper credits Anna Zenger, wife of John Peter Zenger, publisher of the "New York Weekly Journal," with the first effort to establish a press free from government controls.

Though history has recognized Zenger as the first champion of freedom of the press in America, Mr. Cooper, after exhaustive research into early Colonial records, advances the theory that it was really the printer's beautiful and talented wife, Anna, who wrote the barbed paragraphs and ringing editorials of the "New York Weekly Journal," which roused the early Colonists to a new conception of freedom.

First Woman

She was, undoubtedly, the world's first woman editor and publisher, editing the "Journal during her husband's nine months of imprisonment, and continuing to publish it for nearly three years after his death.

Mr. Cooper bases his theory on records showing that Zenger himself lacked both the ambition and the writing talent to produce the sparkling independent paper which was the first voice of press freedom in America. Others among his associates have been variously credited with the writings, but research convinced the author that the moving spirit and the facile mind behind the paper was that of Anna Zenger.

The "New York Weekly Journal" was first published in 1733, to voice the people's rights and expose the machinations of a tyrannical governor. Zenger, a printer, was goaded by his wife into taking the step, according to the novel, in order to combat the influence of the only other newspaper in New York, which was controlled by the government.

Immediate Success

The new paper's success was immediate and its results far-reaching. When at last Zenger was jailed, without indictment, his wife carried on as editor and publisher of the paper. The services of the most famous lawyer of the colonies, Andrew Hamilton, of Philadelphia, were enlisted to defend her husband when at last he came to trial.

The great lawyer, a friend of Benjamin Franklin, had followed the daring course of the little paper, and served without fee to free its publisher, whose courage also had attracted the attention of Franklin.

The glory of the acquittal, however, went chiefly to Hamilton, while Zenger and his wife were almost forgotten in the celebrations of the Colonists.

Letter To Husband

The credo of Anna Zenger is presented in Mr. Cooper's novel in a letter written to her husband during his long imprisonment, of which four copies later were printed and presented to Hamilton, Franklin, James Alexander (attorney for Zenger) and to Anna Zenger. The letter reads:

"Dear John:

"This is how I feel about what we are fighting for:

"1—Man's progress stopped when freedom to print was suppressed. Restore the right to print and he will go forward to greater things.

"2—A free press can develop and bring to reality other freedoms such as the right to speak openly and the right to worship as one chooses.

"3—Once established, freedom cannot survive unless the press that established it remains free.

"4—Good morals, not government, should control what the press prints.

"All of this is worth fighting for! We are suffering for what we are doing but all of those who have done things to make this world better had their trials and tribulations.

"God will bless us if we do not quit!

"I love you, John!

"Anna."

During winter months, for every 30 pedestrains killed in traffic during the three hours just before sunset, 100 are killed in the three hours just after sunset.

FINE DOLLS FOR CHRISTMAS

(By The Associated Press)

Santa, that merry old tycoon, will distribute a total pack of about 40 million dollars worth of dolls this Christmas—a new all-time record even for that big-time operator.

Little girls who for five long years have been longing for a "mama" doll with blue "sleepy eyes" and long yellow curls have created a bumper doll market. The toymakers have been working overtime trying to supply the demand. Although production now exceeds prewar figures, the pent-up demand is such that wise assistants to Santa will do their doll shopping early.

Postwar dolls are all that lonely little girls have been dreaming about. They present all ages of childhood in realistic miniature. There are dolls modeled from newborn babies, toddlers, kindergartners, the pigtail set and teen-agers. Complete wardrobes are features for each age group, beginning with gorgeous layettes for baby dolls and including costumes for every social occasion in the life of a glamor girl doll.

The 1946 doll parade has its practical side, too. New dolls not only are beautiful or cuddly, they also are practically unbreakable, have real little girl faces instead of prim grown-up ones, and are equipped with clothes easy for children to take off and put on. There are plastic skins that feel almost like human skin, and there are brother-and-sister dolls.

Hand paper making is still a sizable industry in Japan.

First Book Published In Baltimore Tells Of MoneyTransactionHere

The first book published in Baltimore, according to an interesting account of its publication in The Gettysburg Compiler of March 23, 1904, tells a story of the Marsh Creek settlement, near Gettysburg. The original first book was printed in "Baltimore town" in 1764 by Nicholas Hasselback.

The latter had lived in Philadelphia a number of years and while in that city had been associated in the printing business with a former associate of Benjamin Franklin. Hasselback moved to Baltimore in 1764 and the same year printed the small volume of 48 pages. The book was re-printed early in the present century by George W. McCreary, assistant secretary and librarian of the Maryland Historical Society.

Disputed Transaction

The book was an account of a small money transaction in 1759, or perhaps a little earlier, between the author of the book, John Redick, a layman of the Presbyterian church, and Hugh Scott, blacksmith, a member of the same church, both of the Marsh Creek settlement, and charges growing out of the matter made before sessions of the Presbytery at Marsh Creek and at Oxford. The book was published either as an attempt of the author to clear himself, or to make a permanent record of the transaction.

zThe book was not only the first one to be published in Baltimore, but was among the first published in this section of the new world. It was unique in showing the old idiom of expression of the language, with very frequent capitalizing of letters.

Strange Language

"My Design in the ensuing Sheets," says the author, "is to present to the Reader with a virulent Charge Hugh Scot of Marsh Creek Settlement, Blach Smith, and his wife, first slanderously in Publick, laid against me, afterwards at Marsh Creek Session, from thence to the Associated Presbytary at Oxford Meeting-house the eighteenth Day of April last."

Mr. Redick then goes on to say that Scott entrusted him with 12 pounds, this sum of money to be delivered to a Lancaster merchant, and that Scott charged that Redick took one of the 12 pounds.

There was considerable discussion in the book, in the quaint language and spelling of the day, on the counting of the money. For instance:

"I came to his house and seated myself on a Bench within the Chimney, occassioned by the sharpnets of the Evening: from which Place I removed not till he had satisfied himself respecting the Sum, which I confess he counted in the Manner related.

"In Even Pounds"

"The money lay in even Pounds round the Candle upon the Table; he also appear'd very careful, while it lay there in twelve different parcels; he called me to come. He called me to come and be satisfied also, as I had to pay off his Merchant: Which I did, beginning at the first I re-examined it, laid it back upon the same Spot, and so in succession through the whole, and returned to the Seat from which I came, yet I do, and always did confess, that I was apprehensive of Bills cleaving together which I am perswaded escaped his Observation nor did I know the Contents of the undermost Bills, yet indulged the mistake, being pinched to complete a Sum my journey required; and yet unwilling to apply to him for the Favor: And determined if he should not discover the mistake till he delivered it to me; it should remain so till I could return it again. But the least Discovery he made not, nor did the least Umbrage appear, nor was there a Farthing missed.

"She asserted, nor a Farthing brought to supply, any Defect at the Time I went Home I let my Wife know my suspicion, examined the Bundle and found the mistake, a twenty Shilling Bill, which I had laid by for my own use, desiring my wife, (if through a frown of Providence I should not return,) to be very carefull in returning that Money again, which she freely promised, yet at my return I am not able to return it or willing to let him know it was in my Hand, sooner that I could, nor could I see any Necessity, as I knew he could not suspect a mistake, yet after all I confess frequently money pass'd through my Hand, yet I can sincerely say there was none I handled but what in my opinion had louder Calls than Hugh Scot's."

It was, according to the "confession," five years before Mr. Redick returned the money. Scott remained silent. Then Redick sold his "plantation."

"On Saturday Evening with Candle Light I received forty pounds, and upon Monday Morning return'd Hugh Scot his money as one of the first Debts I paid out of it"

Redick said he sent the money by one James Agnew, whose wife was an aunt of Scott's, and upon Agnew's advice and his wife's, did not reveal his name, but Scott apparently "guessed" the source, or had known all along that the money had been missing.

"I laid before the Presbytary," says the book, "some grating Consequences he unawares brought upon himself, for five Years he verily believed i had stolen his Money; without any Design ever to return it; all which Time he could without the least objection, suffer me to partake of Sealing Ordainances in the same Community, and in the same House, where he himself a Fellow Member also partaking with me: and after my Separation be a Witness to my partaking at the Lord's Table, and the Baptizing of a Child, (was not this long to let Sin lye upon his brother;) but as soon as I returned him his Money; and all suspicion of a Fraudlent Design Removed just at that juncture, to raise against me the Hue and Cry, attackt my name and Character in the Publick, and I was Creditably informed he applied to the civil Magistrates, urge his and his Wife's Oath to prove the charge, which he himself has declar'ed me free of, as to the Substance thereof, again to the Sessions, and from thence to the Presbatary, no Church Privilidge might I any longer enjoy, 'till the Church be satisfied."

Yarn Spinners Flunk In Spinning Classes

New Delhi (AP)—When Mahatma Gandi held spinning classes for the public at his home in the Bhangi (sweepers) colony in New Delhi, it proved that adept spinners of yarns are not always adept spinners of yarn.

Correspondents Andrew Freeman of the "New York Post" and Norman Cliff of the London "News Chronicle" both failed the final examination—they couldn't spin yarn fast enough.

Candidate Forfeits $200 For Small Vote

Hamilton, Bermuda (AP)—The Bermuda government is today $200 richer then before the bye-election for Pembroke Parish. For the first time in Bermuda's history, a candidate for the House of Assembly failed to accumulate more than eight per cent of the total votes cast.

Under the Parliamentary Election Act each candidate must deposit $200, which is forfeited if the candidate does not poll eight per cent. The regulation was made to discourage too long a ballot.

OLD FASHIONED COUNTRY STORE MOVES TO CITY

By HAL BOYLE

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—The three greatest popular mysteries of modern America are: What happened to vaudeville, Justice Crater, and the old-fashioned crossroads country general store?

Well, really the fate of vaudeville isn't a very well kept secret. The beau jest boys like Milton Berle just polished up the usual Joe Miller wheezes with an atom age twist and traded the four-a-day-pork-and-beans routine for night club contracts at $10,000 a week or a lousy worse.

And as for Justice Crater? I just know he stepped into a New York taxi after a comfortable meal some years ago and rode right into limbo with the meter still ticking. A lot of people with their own shiny crystal balls have their theories, but nobody yet, including New York's finest, have produced the corpus delicti—if there is one.

But I can claim to have solved what happened to the country general store, the forum of the common people, the conversation fountain where they settled the world's woes, underwrote the local statesman's errors, bet on the neighborhood's fastest plow-puller, and charted the fair, fair future.

Moved To City

They took the old country general store and moved it to the city.

They called it a "bar" and made it co-educational.

They took it off the crossroads and put it on a side street and marked it with a mortgaged neon sign.

They put in a mirror where they used to stock the calico. In the center of the mirror they stuck a sign: "In God we trust—all others cash." And if they were real up-to-date somebody from the management would scrawl on the inner consolation room: "Kilroy was here."

They moved out the snuff and the chaw tobacco plug and installed in their place a box full of two-bit cigars and cork-tipped cigarets on the bosom of a girl who was killing time before Helen Hayes forsook the theater.

Proprietor A Diplomat

They trundled out the cider jugs, too, and stuck in a lot of fancy colored bottles—guaranteed 90 proof if you don't count the water.

The proprietor quit being an unofficial justice of the peace and became a smooth diplomat and learned a couple of French phrases. He burned up the old cash drawer and bought a shiny new cash register. He kept close to it. Nobody played its music but himself.

He quit calling in his friends to help settle the arguments. He bought a baseball bat.

People didn't hear any more about the corn wilting "in the north 40 acres." They listened to the sleek chic secretary say, "Boys you know my hair doesn't look nice—I had to put the iron to it."

And then four hours later they had to play the match game to see who would have to call a cab to get her home.

Nobody talked any more about how "the squire" was squeezing the interest rates. Everybody became a "Fascist trying to corrupt the common people" or a "Communist trying to enlist support among the frightened moneybags to get the money to destroy them."

Stove Is Converted

A plain old-fashioned Republican or a diehard old Democrat was as behind the times as sulphur and molasses, as lonesome as the pioneer mother at a birth control meeting.

And the big pot-bellied stove that everybody gathered around? They turned it into a long mahogany bar wtih a foot rail that gave a man something to brace against but didn't keep him warm.

Yep, the general store moved to town. You may miss the crackers, fellows, but the cheese—it's still there!

Solution Of Fats Problem Is Nuts

London (AP)—The solution of the fats problem may be nuts for Britons.

Ground nuts in sufficient quantities to overcome the shortage of fats are expected to be available before long from Tanganyika, Northern Rhodesia, and possibly Nyasaland.

A commission has been studying the problem in Africa. The scheme would involve a capital outlay by the British exchequer. It envisages large development benefits to Tanganyika and Nyasaland.

At present most of the nuts come from Nigeria.

Once the nuts, which grow rapidly, are in production, the commission believes it will be a permanent industry even when normal sources of fats return.

LITTLE FOXES MAY LOSE IRISH WAILING CASTLE

Dublin, Nov. 21 (AP)—What will the little foxes do if the ancient home of the Gormanstons, Gormanston Castle, County Meath, is sold "over their heads"?

People all over the wide and rolling countryside on the Dublin-Meath border asked the question when they read the announcement that the castle, which has been in the possession of the Gormanstons since the reign of Edward III of England, was to be put up for sale.

In the legends of the countryside foxes have been said to gather and howl upon the death of any member of the family since the days when the first Lord Gormanston, Robert Preston, British Lord High Chancellor of Ireland, purchased the estate.

Employes and neighboring villagers still tell remarkable stories of how, upon a death, the grounds are overrun by foxes who gather outside the huge 87-room mansion and howl weirdly through the night.

Heard Foxes Howling

John Fleming, a gardener on the grounds for 40 years, told of some of the more recent appearances of the foxes. In 1907 on the death of the great-grandfather of the present Lord Gormanston, his son Col. Preston was watching by the remains in the castle chapel. During his vigil he heard foxes howling and on going to the door was confronted by a great band of the animals. He chased them away repeatedly but always they returned and remained crying and barking through the night.

Fleming said that in 1941, he and his daughter heard the foxes again. In brilliant moonlight he saw packs of the animals wandering around barking and howling. The following morning he learned that Capt. Preston, a member of the family had died in Dublin.

The present holder of the family title is seven-year Jenico Nicholas Dudley Preston, 17th Viscount and Premier Viscount of Ireland. He succeeded to the title on the presumed death of his father, Lord Gormanston, an infantry officer, who in 1940, during the retreat of the British Army to Dunkirk, was last seen swimming a river under fire from the Germans.

The court accepted the evidence but that night, say the local people, the foxes did not gather, and there are many among the family retainers who stoutly maintain that the missing lord is not dead.

WANTED FOR BURGLARY

Vanclevesville, W. Va. (AP)—Breaking into C. S. Ramsburg's general store, a thief could chalk up his venture as a cold loss—after fleeing without loot and in a state of undress.

The would-be-burglar broke a window, state police reported, then removed clothing to squeeze through the tiny aperture. Once inside however, he was frightened off, leaving his pants.

Saturday Night Is Real Beehive Of Activity For Merchants Of Gettysburg

Most Gettysburg retail establishments do their biggest business on Saturdays, for several reasons, principally because stores are open longer hours and because residents of the shopping areas adjacent to Gettysburg concentrate most of their "trading" on this day of the week.

Thursday is usually the lightest day of the week, because a great many stores close at noon on that day. Shopping is heavier, however, during the morning hours on Thursdays, because housewives and others must obtain supplies before the stores close or wait until Friday morning.

Weekly Excursion

In spite of the ease of transportation nowadays, when farmers and villagers, outside of Gettysburg, with automobiles can reach this town within a few minutes, a large proportion put off until Saturday their shopping trips, and make of them a weekly excursion in which business is combined with pleasure.

This grand old American institution, "Saturday Night," is something of long standing in nearly all small communities, particularly in farming sections. It probably stems from horse and buggy days and before, when a trip to town was something to be attempted not oftener than once a week, and then only after a week's work was done. There was little time during the week to "go to town."

The custom persists. Practically every available parking space for automobiles in the business section is filled, as the Saturday influx reaches its climax on Saturday night. The overflow extends into the farther-removed residential sections. Streets and parking lots are jammed with cars. The streets are jammed with people.

Fine Old Custom

Streets and stores resemble something of an "Old Home Week" atmosphere. Many people finish their shopping and sit in their cars just to watch the crowds or to converse with friends and neighbors. Others meet and greet each other in store aisles and on the sidewalks. It all adds up to a typical small town custom which lives through the years and seems destined never to perish.

It creates a situation which has some drawbacks. It adds problems for the police. Parking violations occur oftener than on other nights. Pedestrains going someplace are often blocked by other pedestrains who are just standing and talking. The "rougher" element comes to town and does its celebrating, sometimes to the accompaniment of discolored optics and bruised craniums. And this makes more trouble for the police, and generally for the participants.

Lay In Supplies

Saturday and Saturday night purchases run the gamut of everything that is merchandised in the Gettysburg stores, and that is almost everything. Families lay in a week's supply of foodstuffs, and it is no uncommon sight to see both the head of the family and his wife loaded down with bundles and bags in both arms, and the children trailing with other purchases.

It is very likely that when they make the trip to their automobile to "park" their purchases it is the second or third trip. If the head of the household be a farmer, he has probably already carried a new milk pail, a logging chain, a horse collar or a week's supply of "eating" tobacco back to the car.

Children and grownups alike get fitted with new shoes. The farmwife gets a new skillet or a new winter coat; the farmer a new pair of work pants or boots. They buy "sodas" or ice cream. After other things are done, they go to "the show." Whether their choice is a western or some other type of cinema entertainment the theatres get a large proportion of the Saturday night visitors.

Have Good Time

The young Don Juans and the would-be Casinovas stand on "the square" and greet the fairer sex with whistles. Others dash up and down the streets and around the square and blow their horns. Sunday morning resembles the circus lot the day after the circus has left, but everybody has had a good time the night before.

EDITOR-ARTIST SETS A RECORD

Alexandria, La., Nov. 21 (AP)—Some artists live a lifetime to have nine one-man shows and few have had four exhibitions at one time, but Ralph Brewer, Alexandria newspaperman-artist, has done all this in one year.

Self-taught for 13 years, Brewer unveled his work in November, 1945, at the Delgado Museum in New Orleans. Today he has oil paintings in New York, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Miami Beach galleries.

In addition, within twelve months after his inaugural at New Orleans, he had one-man shows under the auspices of Louisiana College, Pineville; Louisiana Art Commission, Baton Rouge; State Fair Exhibits building, Shreveport, and the Bunkie, La., Community Civic Club.

A knife and brush floral and landscape painter in his spare time, he set a goal of starting or finishing one picture a day. Native of Bryan county, Ga., he worked on the Charleston, S. C., "News and Courier," Macon, Ga., "Telegraph," Athens, Ga., "Banner," Augusta, Ga., "Chronicle," Birmingham, Ala., "News" and New Orleans "States" before coming to the Alexandria "Town Talk" as managing editor.

Taking up art as a hobby, he was persuaded by a fellow newspaperman, Meigs O. Frost, of the New Orleans "Times-Picayune," to let him tell the world about his work. A committee of three New Orleans art critics saw his pictures and invited him to hold a one-man show at the Delgado.

"Since then things have been happening and I am bowled over," said the 45-year-old father of three sons, the oldest in the Navy.

BANDITS TO GET DESERTS

Chicago (AP)—A pair of "dinner-time bandits" have been turning up as uninvited guests at south side homes.

Three times within a month the gunmen interrupted evening meals, and walked out with $723 in cash and $1,800 worth of jewelry.

The police are after them with the intention of giving them a generous helping of their just deserts.

20 PER CENT SLASH IN TAX TO HELP MANY

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—A 20 per cent reduction in individual income taxes, as promised by Republican leaders in Congress, would mean a tidy savings for taxpayers in all income brackets.

The tax of a $2,500 wage earner with a wife and two dependent children would be cut from $95 to $76 a year, a reduction of $19. The tax of a married person with no dependents and an income of $25,000 would be reduced from $9,082 to $7,265.60, a slash of $1,816.40.

To many people $19 is a puny savings. However, to a man or a widow supporting a family of four on $2,500 a year in a time of high living costs, it probably means much more than a $1,816 savngs to the $25,000-a-year taxpayer. The $19 may be sorely needed for food, clothing, or medicine while the $1,816 may mean only a second automobile or other luxury.

Cut May Be Graduated

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, slated to be Speaker of the House in the new Congress, has said that the proposed 20 per cent reduction will be "straight across the board." That would mean a 20 per cent cut for all individual taxpayers—(not corporations) in every income bracket from the lowest to the highest.

However, there may be considerable pressure in Congress to give a larger measure of relief to low-income taxpayers than to those in the high brackets. That's how the reduction by Congress a year ago worked out. Increase of the dependent exemption allowance took 12 million small-income persons right off the federal tax rolls.

Graduated Reductions

Some Congressmen think there will be considerable backing in the House and Senate for a graduated reduction, starting possibly at 20 per cent or more in the low-income brackets and tapering down to 15 or 10 per cent in the high brackets. The high prices of so many necessities will be a main argument of advocates of greater relief for small wage-earners, particularly those with several dependents.

A tax cut could be put into effect by reducing tax rates or increasing the amount of allowance for dependent exemptions, or by both methods. In 1945 Congress changed the law to grant exemptions from both normal tax and surtax amounting to $500 each for the taxpayer, his spouse, and his dependents. Under the old law, these exemptions were allowed only for the surtax.

Congress also reduced the tax rates in each surtax bracket, the changes applying to 1946 income.

Speed Is Important

Republican leaders have said that the proposed reduction would apply to all income received in 1947. Tax authorities believe that if Congress does proceed to cut taxes on 1947 income there will be considerable pressure for doing it quickly.

That's because employers will start withholding taxes under present rates from the pay of millions of employes on January 1, two days before the new Congress convenes. If taxes were withheld for a considerable time under present rates, many taxpayers would have a long wait for their excess payments refunded.

The government probably would not start making refunds until after March 15, 1948, when final tax returns will be due on 1947 income. It might be midsummer of 1948 before most of the excess tax payments were refunded.

Births Gain 16,000 In Month In Japan

Tokyo (AP)—Living is precarious in Japan and yet the population grows. There were 193,526 births and 117,513 deaths in September.

Noting that September's births were 16,000 more than August's, the newspaper "Jiji Shimpo" observed: "This is an ironical phenomenon in these days, when birth control is supposed to be popular."

EXPLANATION OF NEW ARMY RULE ON GI FAMILIES

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington Nov. 21 (AP)—The army has called a halt to shipping overseas the families of enlisted army men in the four lowest grades: sergeant, corporal, first class private, and private.

Here is an explanation of this move and what it means—the announcement was made November 9—as given by officers at the War Department:

Under a long-standing law all commissioned officers and sergeants of the three top grades—master, technical and staff—are entitled to housing or money to pay for it, even when overseas.

The army has been sending over to them—when they requested it—their wives and children. It will continue to do so when there's shipping to carry them and houses can be found for them.

But the men in the four lowest grades—sergeant, corporal, first class private and private—don't come under the law. Which means: they're not entitled under law to housing or money to pay for it.

Why They Did It

But the army had been sending their families over, too, when they asked for them to be sent. And this is why:

When the war ended and the army needed men to enlist as regulars—to replace some of the millions of drafteees being discharged—it made a recruiting drive.

Many men signing up for two or three years were told—as an inducement to joining—that if they went overseas and wanted their families to join them they would be sent.

But this was a verbal promise to these men in the four lower grades. They are not promised housing under the law as are the commissioned officers and sergeants in the top three grades.

Lack Housing, Funds

So if the army finds a reason for not being able to send families overseas—as it says it has now—then it can stop sending families of the men in the four lowest grades.

And this is the reason the army says it has to stop it:

1. Housing is scarce overseas. And in this country building material—which could be sent overseas to make housing—is scarce.

2. Because of limited funds, the army doesn't have enough money to equip enough ships for moving the families—even if there were housing overseas. So there's a backlog of waiting families.

But what of the promises made to those men who enlisted with the understanding their families would be sent to join them?

Discharges for Some

If they have more than 18 months to serve overseas, they can ask to get out of the army now, be sent back to the United States, and discharged here.

The families of all men—in all grades—who have been given authorization through December to go overseas will be sent. Shipment of families started about last April.

Here are the totals of those who have been authorized to go and—in parentheses—those who have sailed already.

European theater, which means Germany and Austria—17,350 (11,000); Mediterranean theater, which means mostly Italy—1,481 (1,300); and the Pacific theater—9,545

Shifting Air Cause Of Earth's Wobble

London (AP)—The earth's wobble, observed long age by astronomers, has been traced to great air masses which accumulate over Europe and Asia during the winter and roll back towards the oceans in the summer, says the "Soviet Science News."

The publication records a report by V. Shuleikin to the Soviet Academy of Sciences on the results of a study of seasonal atmospheric fluctuations. Shuleikin and his colleagues estimate there are 300 billion tons more air over Europe and Asia in winter than in summer. The great movement of this air, they say, gives rise to late frosts in spring and Indian summer in autumn. The shifting weight is so great, they added, that it causes the earth to wobble.

Partial Eclipse Of Sun Saturday

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—A partial eclipse of the sun, caused by the moon's shadow sweeping across the earth, wil be visible Saturday over most of the United States and Canada, the Naval Observatory announced today.

The eclipse will start in Alberta, Canada, and reach its greatest magnitude, 78 per cent, in Greenland near the Arctic Circle, the Observatory said.

FINDS HIS AUTOMOBILE

Oklahoma City (AP)—There was little joy for the owner in the recovery of an automobile he reported stolen.

Detectives found the auto parked in front of a bus station. Inside, pinned to the seat, was a note, saying:

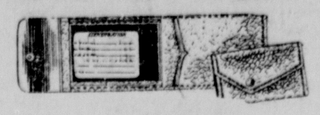

"I have gone to California. We never would have made it anyway—Ann."

Ann the officers theorized, borrowed the boy friend's auto to drive to the bus station—and went on to California.

BRAIN, SPINE SURGERY AID TO PARALYSIS

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Surgery on the brain and spinal nerve channels is bringing relief to some victims of two painful, crippling diseases—shaking palsy and a paralysis that twists muscles, sometimes turning the head over the shoulder.

The new methods were described by Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, director of the Neurological Institute of New York, before the recent Inter-American Medical Congress in Rio de Janeiro.

The two diseases are more distressing and apparently more common than infantile paralysis, Dr. Putnam said.

Shaking palsy, or paralysis agitans, brings uncontrollable shaking of the hands, arms, or head, with some rigidity. The second disease—called dystonia or athetosis—makes muscles of the arms, legs, neck or trunk contract involuntarily and almost continuously. The rigid muscles may twitch.

Some Resume Work

The surgery tries to stop abnormal nerve signals producing these effects, Dr. Putnam explained. It has enabled a few persons to return to work. One is using a typewriter with hands that once could not be kept still.

In about 75 per cent of cases, operations can bring relief of the trembling or contractions, and often of pain, but they are not a cure, he said. They seldom relieve the rigidity, and may leave the tremor-affected arm or leg weakened.

Medicines sometimes help somewhat in both ailments. What causes the abnormal nerve signals is not known, Dr. Putnam said, but operations are helping to explain their mechanism.

The first operation tried, for dystonia, removes part of the motor cortex from the top of the brain. First performed in England in 1909, it was developed considerably in recent years by Dr. Paul Bucy of Chicago and by Dr. Roland Klemme of St. Louis. It works well for spasms of the arm, but less well for those of the leg, face, or neck, and achieves extremely good results in selected cases, Dr. Putnam said.

Second Operation

A second operation, also for dystonia, was developed by Dr. Putnam and his associates. It is done in the neck on a nerve channel in the spinal cord. The reasoning was that the abnormal signals from the brain might be stopped before they reached the nerves going to the body extremities.

But here a strange fact in man's evolution had to be considered. Man has two sets of nerve channels or tracts in the spinal cord. One is found in lower animals, even in fishes, and still is retained in man. The other set, the pyramidal tract, is well-developed only in man and monkeys.

There was evidence that the old nerve channel was responsible for the muscle contractions in dystonia, and an operation of cutting into this old pathway was first tried on a girl who was in great pain. It worked successfully. It has had about the same proportion of success as the operation on the brain motor center, and can be used when paralysis affects both sides of the body, Dr. Putnam said.

Test On Monkeys

But this method had no effect on shaking palsy. Apparently the nerve impulses causing the tremor were transmitted along the pyramidal tract, not the old motor channel.

But would cutting into man's main nerve tract produce severe paralysis? Tests with monkeys indicated it would not. The operation was first carried out on a patient who had been completely incapacitated for 16 years. It brought marked relief and has been used successfully with numerous patients, Dr. Putnam said.

One puzzle, he continued, is why a given operation works in one case but not another.

Dr. Putnam also is professor of neurology and neurological survey at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and now is on sabbatical leave.

FUSS BETWEEN PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS -- OLD

(By The Associated Press)

Any factional disputes between Democratic President Truman and the Republican Congress which opens January 3 will be just another installment of a headache which started with the founding fathers and has been throbbing in America's governmental noodle ever since.

When Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) suggested that the President appoint a Republican Secretary of State and then resign in his favor, White House reports indicated he wouldn't do any such thing.

But either way, Truman is right in the middle of a muddle over the presidency which has grown periodically and unpredictably in American affairs.

The constitutional convention in 1787 didn't decide what to do about the President until the last minute. The wording of the constitutional definition of presidential powers is credited to Gouveneur Morris, convention expert on phrasing, and apparently never was voted upon. Lawyers have been arguing ever since whether "The executive power . . . vested in a President," grants something not otherwise specified in the document.

Kingdom Was Feared

Before the convention James Madison said, "A national executive will also be necessary. I have scarcely ventured to form my own opinion yet either on the manner in which it ought to be constituted or the authorities with which it ought to be clothed." Neither had anyone else, apparently.

The convention rejected election of the President by Congress and later election by electors. Then it decided to let Congress elect and finally changed its mind and approved the elector system.

The uncertainty was understandable. The new republic existed in a world full of kings. Alexander Hamilton found it necessary to defend the proposed President against opponents who pictured him "with a diadem sparkling on his brow and the imperial purple flowing in his train."

Parties Were Unforeseen

In general, most of the predictions, and expectations of the founding fathers about the presidency were proved false later. The electors, given an important role in the Constitution, were insignificant almost from the start. And when Aaron Burr and Thomas Jefferson got an equal number of electoral votes, precipitating a battle in the House which has jurisdiction in such cases, the Twelfth Amendment was rushed through to provide separate votes for President and Vice President.

In any case, the founders had no conception of a party system. Parties were in disrepute after many centuries during which sponsorship of opposition parties was considered treason in most countries.

Thus the nation as it has grown from less than four million inhabitants has been faced with an original uncertainty about the role of the President and has had to build a chief executive to suit its needs as it went along and at the same time adjust his relationships with the other branches of the government.

How Powers Have Grown

High spots of the development in the presidency include:

1. Jefferson's extreme deference to Congress modified by the fact that he got what he wanted through party leadership.
2. The strong policies of Jackson which increased the power of the Presidents.
3. The war powers which President Lincoln was forced to assume.
4. The bitter fight between Andrew Johnson and Congress.
5. The dynamic program of Theodore Roosevelt which again increased the power of the Presidents.
6. The war-backed developments of Wilson.
7. The depression and war programs of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now comes Harry Truman facing a hostile Congress in a postwar emergency.

Slang Dictionary Translates Movies

Copenhagen (AP)—A new Danish "U.S.A. slang" dictionary has recently been published in Denmark because, say the authors, Victor Skaarup and Kris Winther, people take such an immense interest in movies and modern books that they are not content with the translations they can get by knowing standard English.

The Danes are therefore no more astonished when they read about a "palooka" who "oozed out of town" when "the pinks" got on his trail. They think it quite natural for a musician to sit in the orchestra and "chew on his licorice stick" so that the performance can be a "splendiforous sockeroo."

Five India Projects To Cost $4,350,000

New Delhi (AP)—The development of India's natural resources and industry is the aim of a long-range government scheme for the setting up of five national laboratories estimated to cost about $4,350,000.

The first foundation stone already has been laid at Calcutta for the Central Glass and Ceramic Research Institute. Second on the list is the Fuel Research Institute at Digwadith. National Metallurgical Laboratory also has been started at Jamshedpur.

Building of the National Physical Laboratory at Delhi and the National Chemical Laboratory at Poona, near Bombay, will begin in January.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
